Waco residents Kristen, BSFCS '09, and Brett Bufton, BA '09, MSEd '15, are connected with some of the area’s most-recognized people. Kristen is in her fourth year working for Chip and Joanna Gaines at Magnolia Homes and serves as an interior designer/project manager for the couple’s Fixer Upper show. Kristen is a certified remodeler through the National Association of the Remodeling Industry. Brett is assistant director of equipment services for Baylor head coach Art Briles and the Bears’ football team. Brett, a certified member of the Athletic Equipment Managers Association, collaborates with Nike regarding the design of the Bears uniforms, which earned a nod as “College football’s best uniform” in a 2014 Sporting News poll.

Baylor 2014 Young Alumna of the Year Katie Norris, BSFCS '08, launched a photography business after graduation, and grew to feel a calling to use her abilities to make a difference. In 2008, Katie and husband Reece, BBA '03, began a photography ministry combining film, photography and philanthropy to document inspiring stories of people overcoming adversity. The result is Fotolanthropy, a nonprofit company that provides subjects with a portrait session, coffee table book or album, short film and a platform to share their story.

Courtney Gregory Denby, BA '91, followed a non-conventional career path to her current position as president of W by Worth, a direct-sales women’s wear company that offers personal shopping experiences through an unparalleled network of women. At Baylor, Courtney majored in English with a focus on professional writing. Her first job was in Washington, DC, as an intern in the Office of the President. Her first job was in Washington, DC, as an intern in the Office of the President George H.W. Bush. While working in Washington, she met Douglas, her husband, and took on leadership roles in volunteer positions that changed her professional direction and led to an interview with the W company. For Courtney, the mission of W by Worth is to do more than just sell clothes. It is also to empower women with financial opportunity in a work environment that promotes excellence, integrity, trust and a win-win mindset.

Rebecca Liddicoat Griffin, BS '10, will talk with us about life in the spotlight—as a girlfriend, newlywed and new mom—with a highly recognizable husband, Baylor’s Heisman recipient and first-round NFL draftee Robert Griffin III, BA '10. The couple met at Baylor, married in 2013 and welcomed a daughter in 2015.
