The Fine Arts Living-Learning Center Applications Reminder

Today, Monday, November 30, is the last day to apply online for the Fine Arts Living-Learning Center. In the fall of 2010, Baylor University will officially launch the Fine Arts Living-Learning Center to be housed at Texana House and University House in the North Village. The FA-LLC is a collaboration of Campus Living and Learning and faculty members from the Departments of Art and Theatre Arts, the Division of Film and Digital Media in the Department of Communication Studies, and the School of Music. While collaborative artistic projects are integral within each of these academic units, students in the FA-LLC will interact with peers and faculty across multiple artistic disciplines. Living-learning centers at Baylor provide resources for community building, faculty interaction, and enhanced learning opportunities for students. For additional information, visit www.baylor.edu/fineartsllc.
