

Baylor University

School of Education

- PREPARING LEADERS
- IMPACTING THE WORLD
- SHAPING THE FUTURE

DISTINGUISHED LECTURE SERIES

February 10 & 11, 2010

The Evolution of Human Leadership

exploring the idea of a cultural equivalent paralleling biological evolution and its implications for leadership in differing cultures

Dr. Robert Birnbaum

University of Maryland professor, retired

www.baylor.edu/soe

BAYLOR
UNIVERSITY

Baylor School of Education Lecture Series

The Evolution of Human Leadership
exploring the idea of a cultural equivalent paralleling biological evolution and its implications for leadership in differing cultures

Dr. Robert Birnbaum

University of Maryland professor, retired

ACADEMIC ADDRESS

The Evolution of Human Leadership

4:30 – 6pm February 10

Roxy Grove Hall, adjacent to Waco Hall, Baylor campus
(short reception following)

COMMUNITY PRESENTATION AND DISCUSSION

What Evolution Suggests about Leading in the Forest, the Garden and the State

8:30 – 10am February 11

Education Service Center, Region 12
Community Auditorium

The Baylor School of Education Lecture Series seeks to engage the school, university and community in discussing important, relevant and challenging educational topics.

The next event in the series will be in fall 2010.

For more information, contact the Baylor School of Education
254-710-3111 • www.baylor.edu/soe

BAYLOR
UNIVERSITY

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

One Bear Place #97304
Waco, TX 76798-7304