

QUICK BIC NEWS

2 two 0 thousand 1 eleven 1

the year of the golden rabbit and all things good

Well, well, welcome back, and welcome to the year two thousand and eleven. Spring semester is among us, and boy, do I love it. If you're wondering what it has in store for you, other than several assignments, Diadeloso, spring break, and Easter break, I have the answer. According to the Chinese Zodiac, this is the year of the golden rabbit. Exciting? Read what it entails:

According to Chinese tradition, the rabbit brings a year in which you can catch your breath and calm your nerves. It is a time for negotiation. Don't try to force issues because, if you do, you will ultimately fail. To gain the greatest benefits from this time, focus on home, family, security, diplomacy, and your relationships with women and children. Make it a goal to create a safe, peaceful lifestyle so you will be able to calmly deal with any problem that may arise.

Comforting words, right? A year to "catch your breath and calm your nerves." I, for one, know this is just what I need, and I'm assuming that most of you are like me. After having a split second to catch our breaths over winter break, we are rushed back into our schedule, not feeling as well rested as we thought we might. And for some of us, perhaps we are returning after a bad semester, or for others, this could be our last, and the nerves are kicking in. This year is what we need.

As far as resolutions go, we are to "make it a goal to create a safe, peaceful lifestyle." Perhaps you wrote some, maybe you didn't, but this sounds like a good one. A lifestyle defined by peace; oh, how I hope for it. To wake up, faced with due dates and be at peace. To be surrounded by friends freaking out over the little stuff and be at peace. To not know what the future may hold and still be at peace. Man, 2011, you sound good.

For those more focused on the Mayan calendar, this year is the calm before the storm—the storm known as "the end of the world." So, make the most of this year, make the most of each day, make the most of each moment. Because, who knows what this year really entails...

By: Maggie Emerson, QUICKBIC editor

follow us
@ QuickBIC

join the Facebook group: QuickBIC :) yup.

upcoming events:

RELAY FOR LIFE:
JOIN TEAM
BICTORY!

Well, friends, I realize that this is months away (April 1st), but keep it on your minds. And start thinking about ways that you can begin to raise money!

For info, contact: Amanda_Garrett1@baylor.edu mark it on your calendar...

VALENTINES BAKE SALE SUPPORTING BIC TORY RELAY FOR LIFE TEAM

FEBRUARY 11

OUTSIDE OF MORRISON 100 @ 9:05

OUTSIDE OF MORRISON 100 @ 12:20

OUTSIDE OF KAYSER @ 1:25

ATTENTION: SENIORS

Please begin to send personal and random pictures as well as quotes for the Spring Senior Appreciation Banquet to BICsrb@yahoo.com!

TOP 5 REASONS YOU ARE GLAD YOU DID NOT DROP BIC OVER THE BREAK...

5. Field trips! Come on, how many other programs go on awesome trips?
4. Last semester's pain wouldn't have been worth it...
3. Everyone knows the second semester is easier! (TGFD...thank God for Diadeloso)
2. No awkward situations when other BICers ask what professors you have...
1. The amazing events coming up! Be sure to keep reading your BIC emails for announcements!

Words of Wisdom

as you begin the Spring Semester

Always put off for tomorrow what you don't have to do today.

The thing I look forward to most about the spring semester is comedy on NBC.

Write what you feel. Dream big. Keep the faith. And don't forget to wear pants. Sometimes a calculator may be needed. Please fill in the bubbles fully.

aka proverbs according to Jacob Robinson

professor doppleganger:

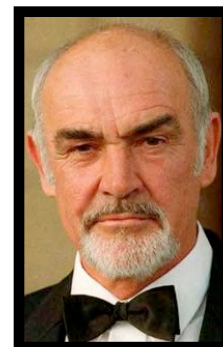

Ivo
Novakovic

as...

Ben Stein?

as...

Sean Connery?

pun of the month: BICtionary. example: Do you know what "the allegory of the cave" is? No, look, it up in the BICtionary.