The Phoenix Submissions
The Phoenix, a student-run magazine of Baylor University, has been a forum for students to publish their literary and artistic work for over 50 years. Each year, the magazine publishes a variety of original, unpublished pieces produced by undergraduate and graduate students of all majors and concentrations, including poetry, fiction, creative nonfiction, drawings, photography, and lithography. Fiction and non-fiction include satire, short stories, screenplay excerpts, feature pieces, and profiles. Art includes drawing, lithography, intaglio printing, painting, sculpture. Submissions are reviewed by an editorial panel of students in each category, and every piece receives detailed consideration, whether or not it is accepted for publication. The Phoenix also offers a $75 prize to the top submissions in fiction, poetry, and art, as voted on by the editorial panel and chosen by an outside judge. All submissions are due Friday, January 20, 2012. For additional information, visit www.baylor.edu/phoenix.

Healthy Monday Tip

There’s more to fit than fat. Just because a food is branded as “low-fat” or “fat free” does not necessarily mean it’s a healthy choice. Check food labels to make sure fat hasn’t been replaced by unnecessary sugar, calories, and artificial flavorings. When in doubt, opt for whole foods instead. For additional information, visit www.baylor.edu/wellness.
