

QUICK BIC NEWS

Have a Care for Her...

In one of the most beloved speeches from a former University President, Samuel Palmer Brooks urges the students to take responsibility of not only our campus, but of each other and all that is Baylor. Though we have all heard it before, and some of us have most likely engrained it on our hearts, some in permanent ink (die-hard Baylor bears),...here is the text quoted again:

"Because of what Baylor has meant to you in the past, because of what she will mean to you in the future, oh my students, have a care for her. Build upon the foundations here a great school of which I have dreamed so that she may touch and mold the lives of future generations and help to fit them for life here and hereafter."

As a senior, I have been quite nostalgic recently. Not only of my overall experience here, but mainly of my time in the BIC. Silly as it may seem, and as much as we try to deny it, the BIC was for most of us the first place where we sighed with relief that we were in the right place, that we had made the right decision, that we were bound for great things. It was in my first college study session with three other BICers--when no studying was actually accomplished but rather goofing off was the activity of the night--that I felt prepared, definitely not for the test, but for the remainder of my time here. Since then, many study sessions have continued to reassure me that despite the grade I received, a good time would always be had.

I have invested a great deal of myself to promoting the BIC to future ~~vietims~~ students, and the love of her to the current ~~vietims~~ students. Complaints have been present before every class period and day, but at the end of a lecture, a discussion, a course I have felt this great sense of enlightenment and a great bond with those around me whether we were friends or not. I still feel it a year removed from my last course.

I feel about the BIC the way Brooks felt about Baylor. I recently read over some material from the first class of BICers. They grasped not only what our unique education means, but also what our small group signifies--we are inexplicably bound by the BIC to each other and to our professors. It is, dare I say, something magical. So, BICers, have a care for her, for each other, forever.

By: Maggie Emerson, Editor

follow us on twitter @QUICKBIC

QUICKBIC & BAYLOR
INTERDISCIPLINARY CORE

BIC TIP:

Never, ever, ever give a Valentine to anyone in your small group. Post spring break break-ups are inevitable. And that just creates an awkward situation for everyone.

P.S. Share this with all your friends. Seriously.

THE BICLC PRESENTS:

FEBRUARY 2012

MARK IT ON YOUR CALENDARS!

Keep checking back for more fun BIC events!

February 28: 2nd Annual BIC Bowl! Get your game face and your trivia on.

March 30/31: Relay for Life, Join Team BICtory! Stay up all night, raise money for cancer research, have a great time!

April 16: Senior Recognition Banquet, come celebrate with the graduating BIC class!

JOIN TEAM BICTORY!

WAYS TO SUPPORT TEAM BICTORY

Bake for the upcoming bake sale!
Buy baked goods!
Find a friend and join! Give up coffee/your favorite treat for a week!

E-mail: Liana_Ramon@baylor.edu or Hannah_Minick@baylor.edu!

INTEREST MEETING IN THE SUB: FEBRUARY 1ST AT 7 P.M!

INTEREST MEETING IN THE SUB: FEBRUARY 1ST AT 7 P.M!

We want to hear from you!

At our (BICLC) most recent bi-monthly meeting, we brainstormed quite a bit about events for this semester. Now we want to hear what you've been dreaming up! What would be the most legendary & epic BIC event EVER? e-mail Maggie Emerson with suggestions or tweet @QuickBIC or post on F.book!

for advice or to talk to an upperclassmen, email BIC.BUDDIES@baylor.edu