Monday Healthy Tip

Care for the caregiver. Caregivers play a crucial role in our community - they tend to loved ones who are ill or have disabilities. This task can become stressful over time; it can be lonely and mentally draining to watch a loved one deteriorate. Thankfully, there are local support groups available for caregivers at churches, hospitals, online and through other organizations. If you’re a caregiver, take some time this week to learn about the many resources available. If you know a caregiver, reach out to them and see if you can do some household cleaning, food shopping, or other small things to reduce their stress.
