Checklist for Graduation
1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Sources of Information

This Handbook describes policies and procedures that can be modified at any time, and does not constitute a contract between Baylor University and a graduate student. The information in this Handbook comes from three principal sources:

1. The Graduate Catalog
2. The rules and regulations of the Graduate School; and
3. The rules, regulations, and working procedures of the School of Music as they pertain to the graduate program.

It is the student's responsibility to understand both the Graduate School and departmental requirements. It is strongly recommended that students download a copy of the Graduate Catalog [http://www.baylor.edu/graduate/index.php?id=858705]

1.2 Graduate School and School of Music Enrollment

All graduate students at Baylor University are enrolled in the Graduate School and are subject to the rules and regulations of the Graduate School. All music programs, however, are offered under the supervision of the School of Music and the specific administration of graduate programs in music is the responsibility of the School of Music. The School of Music has rules and regulations that graduate students in music must also follow.

1.3 Graduate Students' Records

All graduate students' official records are maintained in the Graduate School. An unofficial Advisor's student record file is maintained by the School of Music's Graduate Program Director who serves as the official Graduate Student Advisor for all graduate students in music and receives notices from the Graduate School (such as the official Admission, Withdrawal, Probation, and Suspension notices). The record at the Graduate School will be the complete, official source. Official and unofficial transcripts from Baylor University are available only through Academic Records in Robinson Tower, 3rd floor.

2. ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

2.1 Application for Admission

Admission to the Graduate School is by formal application. Directions and an application for admission are found on the university website. The completed admission application consists of:

1. Application for admission and appropriate fee
2. Official transcript from each college and university attended
3. GRE scores (if required by degree program)
4. TOEFL scores (international students only)
5. Three letters of recommendation from people who can assess the candidate’s potential as a graduate student and/or a professional musician; the letters should be sent from the recommenders (not the candidate) directly to the Graduate School.
6. Any special material (e.g., statement of purpose, writing sample, portfolio, or in-person/recorded audition materials) required by the prospective department or program.

All the above materials (except those in item 6) must be sent directly to the Graduate School.

2.2 Admission Requirements

Master of Music: Students desiring to become candidates for the M.M. degree must have the equivalent of the undergraduate major in music at Baylor University in the field of concentration in which they wish to continue. Those who lack courses prerequisite to graduate study may make up the undergraduate work, for which graduate credit may be granted, provided the course work is at the 4000 level and appropriate to the degree program. All students will take music theory and music history diagnostic examinations. Appropriate remedial course work may be required as a result of the tests (see sect. 6.1). The Graduate Record Examination General Test is required of applicants in Music History and Literature, and Music Theory; while there is no specific minimum requirement, a score of at least 300 for the combined Verbal and Quantitative portions of the GRE General Test is recommended. (The Verbal Score is more important than the Quantitative Score.) The GRE is not required of Church Music, Collaborative Piano, Composition, Conducting, Performance, Music Education, or Piano Pedagogy and Performance majors. International students are expected to secure a minimum of 550 on the paper-based, 213 on the computer-based, or 80 on the internet-based Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). Students may also take and achieve comparable scores on the IELTS and PTE tests. (See the Graduate School’s website for more details: http://www.baylor.edu/graduate/index.php?id=100085)

All applicants for majors in Performance, Piano Pedagogy and Performance, Collaborative Piano, and Church Music with performance or conducting emphasis must audition in person or by recording. Before auditioning students must make application for admission and submit a repertoire list and other requested materials. Applicants for majors in Composition, Music History and Literature, Church Music, Music Theory, and Music Education must submit appropriate writing samples for evaluation. Conducting applicants must submit video of their conducting an ensemble in rehearsal and performance. Students with majors in Vocal Performance, Collaborative Piano, and Church Music with vocal performance emphasis must demonstrate knowledge of German, French, and Italian diction (knowledge of the IPA is necessary; only two of these languages are required for Collaborative Piano). Applicants in Music History and Literature must possess reading ability in German or French. (Students who are deficient in these areas may meet these requirements through courses offered at Baylor or other institutions, or through examination).
Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) and Doctor of Music (D.M.A.) in Church Music Admissions Requirements: Applicants must have earned a master’s degree in music from an accredited college or university. Applicants are encouraged to have significant prior professional experience in the field of music. At least two years of full-time employment or the equivalent in part-time and/or volunteer work is recommended. Three letters of recommendation are required. At least one should be from a person qualified to comment on the applicant’s master’s degree work, and at least one should be from a person who can speak to the applicant’s musical activities in a local congregation.

Applicants must submit a master’s thesis or significant research paper as a writing sample. The research paper may take the form of a published book or article, a major paper for a master’s-level course, or a paper written specifically to fulfill this requirement. The writing sample must demonstrate familiarity with appropriate research techniques, originality of thought, and ability to write with clarity. Prospective students also must submit official GRE scores. The GRE must have been taken within five years of the application for admission. Normal expectations for Ph.D. students are a combined Verbal/Quantitative score of at least 300, with a minimum Verbal score of 153; expectations for D.M.A students are a combined score of at least 297, with a minimum Verbal score of 152. Students from non-English speaking countries must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language and submit a minimum score of 600 (250 computer-based, 100 internet-based). (Comparable scores on the IELTS or PTE exams may also be submitted.)

Applicants will have a face-to-face interview with the Church Music faculty. The applicant should prepare a curriculum vita for the interview that includes all relevant academic and professional experience as well as goals and plans for the future. Prospective D.M.A students must audition for and be accepted by the Church Music and applied faculties in their area of performance. No audition is required for Ph.D. applicants.

Diagnostic examinations in music history, music theory, conducting, voice, and piano will be administered to each student. Appropriate remedial course work may be required as a result of the tests (see sect. 6.1).

Additional DMA Admission and Audition Requirements: D.M.A. in Church Music applicants must have a strong background in the particular performance area for which they are applying. Generally speaking, this will involve having had a graduate major or concentration in that instrument or voice or at least significant graduate study in that area. Students who did not give one or more master's level recitals may be required to do appropriate study and give such a recital (or recitals) before beginning doctoral-level study. Such decisions will be made in conjunction with the applied faculty in the area of concentration.

D.M.A Audition Requirements vary from those for M.M. programs. Please consult the School of Music website for more details. [http://www.baylor.edu/ccms/index.php?id=99078]
2.3 Double Major

Students who wish to pursue a major in two areas (e.g., Music History and Piano Performance) must first make application to and be accepted by one of the areas. After enrollment in the first program, and when the admission requirements for the second area have been met and the faculty in that area has accepted the student for study, the student may petition the Graduate School to add the second major. An additional 15-17 credit hours will be required to complete the major in the second area. Except for the core course requirements of 9 credit hours and some elective hours, no courses can be credited toward degree requirements in both areas (e.g., a recital in the Piano Pedagogy and Performance area cannot be used to fulfill degree recital requirements in the Piano Performance area).

2.4 Joint Master of Divinity/Master of Music in Church Music

The Master of Divinity degree is designed primarily for students preparing for pastoral ministry, though it also provides preparation for other specialized ministries. The Master of Music in Church Music degree is a professional graduate degree for those who plan to serve in the music ministry. The degree is designed to develop proficiency in performance; a knowledge of church music, including music history, music theory, and conducting; and an understanding of the theological context of church music and the administration of a church music program.

Admission: Students seeking admission to the joint degree program will be required to fulfill admission requirements to the George W. Truett Theological Seminary, the Graduate School, and the School of Music. Students must apply and be admitted to each of the programs. Upon commencing seminary studies, the student may enroll in courses in both programs.

Requirements: Students will complete fifty-one credit hours of the theological education core, ten hours of church music concentration courses, twelve hours of mentoring, four hours of electives, and sixteen hours of master of music courses to satisfy requirements for the Master of Divinity. To complete requirements for the Master of Music an additional fifteen credit hours will be taken from the Church Music degree program in one of the following five options: Thesis, Performance, Conducting, Church Ministry, or Composition. Since both degrees are awarded simultaneously, all requirements in both schools must be completed in order to receive either degree. Students who were not church music majors in their undergraduate degree may be required to take MUS 4373 Worship in the Church or THEO 7316 Christian Worship, MUS 4374 Congregational Song, and MUS 5243 Church Music Ministry or do equivalent study as prerequisites to the corresponding graduate courses.

2.5 Advanced Performers Certificate Program (Piano or Organ)

The Advanced Performers Certificate is intended for students who demonstrate the potential to establish a career as a performing artist. Accordingly, the goals of this non-degree program are more narrowly focused than traditional graduate performance degrees. The requirements for the Advanced Performers Certificate are designed for students who have demonstrated the ability to perform advanced repertoire and whose artistic communication and technical mastery of major repertoire for the instrument are unusually strong.

It is expected that the student applying for admission to the program will have completed a Bachelor of Music degree or its equivalent from a recognized institution. Those applying for admission to the Advanced Performers Certificate must follow the procedures and regulations of other students applying for acceptance to the Graduate Division of the School of Music (see Graduate Catalogue for full description).

3. SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR MASTER'S DEGREES

3.1 Residency

The normal time for completion of the requirements for the M.M. degree is four semesters, (although this may shortened if students enroll in summer courses). A minimum of 30 semester hours is required. The dual degree programs, such as the M.M./M.Div., require more credit hours and therefore more semesters to complete.

3.2 Ensemble Requirement

Enrollment in an ensemble, as assigned by the Conducting faculty, is required throughout the term of residence for most degree programs. Ensemble participation is not required of Music Education students, Piano Performance majors, or Collaborative Piano majors. Students in Piano Pedagogy may fulfill the ensemble requirement through enrollment in two semesters of Studio Collaborative Piano (MUS 5036), Piano Ensemble, or Chamber Music. Organ performance majors will fulfill the ensemble requirement through enrollment in two semesters of a choral ensemble.

3.3 Guidelines for Graduate Study in Piano

1. An entrance audition is required for acceptance into any one of the three tracks of the Master of Music degree in Piano: Piano Performance, Piano Pedagogy and Performance, or Collaborative Piano.
2. A qualifying examination is presented to the Piano faculty during the first year of residence prior to the first recital as confirmation of the area of concentration. Students applying to change from one track to another or to add a second piano-based major while in the master’s program must re-audition for acceptance into the second track.
4. Master’s level students in Piano must complete the performance requirement in one track (Piano Performance, Piano Pedagogy and Performance, or Collaborative Piano) before beginning recital preparation in a second track.
5. Graduate students in Piano Performance, Piano Pedagogy and Performance, and Collaborative Piano must present a jury in semesters they do not give a degree recital.
6. Graduate students in Music Theory, Composition, Music History, and Church Music must perform a jury each semester they are registered in Piano until all degree requirements in piano have been passed.
3.4 Guidelines for Final Research Project in the M.M. in Music Education

At the completion of 15 hours toward the M.M. in Music Education, the candidate will select a committee comprised of three faculty members—the chair (a Music Ed faculty member with graduate faculty status), a second Music Ed faculty member, and a member outside Music Ed. One of the two non-chair members must be members of the graduate faculty.

Prior to the conclusion of the semester preceding oral examination and graduation, the candidate should submit to the committee a proposal for his/her final project. The project must be a “culminating demonstration of master’s level capability in relating or integrating research and practice” (NASM Handbook 2011-2012, XIV.D.2.d). The project proposal must be approved by the committee prior to the start of the candidate’s final semester. The committee chair will serve as the project advisor.

A completed draft of the project must be submitted to the committee two weeks prior to the scheduled oral examination. At the oral examination, the candidate will present the project to the committee, and the committee will ask questions and offer corrections or revisions. At the conclusion of this portion of the oral examination, the candidate’s general knowledge and specialized area(s) of study will be examined by the committee.

3.5 Guidelines for Conducting Practicum and Culminating Document for M.M. in Conducting

Each student takes a culminating course during his/her last semester called Orchestral/Band/Choral Conducting Performance Practicum. (The specific practicum is determined by the area of the student’s major.) The student conducts a variety of works in concerts by School of Music ensembles in their major conducting field (orchestral, choral, or band), for a total time of at least thirty (30) minutes. The student receives a grade on the practicum; the grade is determined by vote of the conducting faculty. Students are graded on their knowledge of the musical score, the clarity and efficiency of their rehearsal technique, and their ability to interpret the music through the performance of the choral or instrumental ensembles.

Each student writes a culminating document as part of the practicum. This summarizes the student’s conducting experiences, details composer biographies, historical backgrounds, musical analysis, rehearsal procedures, etc., related to the works that have been or will be performed. The document must demonstrate evidence of significant research, good writing style, and understanding of the conducting issues involved in the music. The culminating document is evaluated by the conducting faculty and factors into the grade given for the Performance Practicum.
4. SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR DOCTORAL DEGREES

4.1 Residence Requirements & Overview of Requirements

Two consecutive semesters in which the student completes at least six hours of doctoral course work per semester will satisfy the residence requirements of the degree.

The Ph.D. in Church Music is designed to foster in students the highest levels of knowledge and skill in the practice of church music and in research. The curriculum of the proposed program will be composed primarily of research-oriented courses in Church Music and related fields. The D.M.A. in Church Music is designed to provide students with much of the same knowledge base and critical thinking ability as the Ph.D., but with the added component of strong performance skills.

As with most university doctoral degrees, the doctoral program in Church Music will require approximately 80 hours of course work beyond the baccalaureate degree. The Ph.D. and D.M.A. (48 hours) will both be based upon Baylor's Master of Music in Church Music degree (30 hours), for a total of 78 hours beyond the bachelor's degree. Appropriate leveling work may be required for students whose master's degree concentration was in an area other than Church Music. This leveling work may consist of a short-term seminar to be taken in late summer before the student begins classes in the fall; other leveling options may be utilized as well. Diagnostic examinations in music history, music theory, conducting, voice, and piano will be administered to each student. Deficiencies in these areas may be remediated through leveling work. (For more details about the exams, see 6.1, 6.2 and 6.3.)

4.2 Degree Proposal

During the first semester each student will prepare a degree proposal in conjunction with his or her advisor. The degree proposal will list the courses currently being taken, the courses that will be taken in the future, and the timeline for taking these courses. It will also list the proposed schedule for the completion of all language, preliminary, and other examinations, as well as for ultimate graduation. Once the proposal is approved it becomes the official program of study for that student and may be amended only by action of the Church Music faculty and Graduate Program Director in the School of Music.

4.3 Interview with Church Music Faculty

Upon the completion of approximately nine hours of study, the student will have an interview with the Church Music faculty and Graduate Program Director. This interview will assess the student's progress to that point and his/her future in the doctoral program. The student will be notified in writing of the faculty's decision.

4.4 Language Requirements

All doctoral students must demonstrate satisfactory ability to translate German. The language requirement must be successfully completed before admission to candidacy for the doctoral degree is filed. Foreign language proficiency may be demonstrated by the following means:
(1) presenting an official undergraduate transcript from Baylor University or another regionally accredited institution of higher learning showing that while enrolled the student received a grade of "B" or better in the Baylor University GER 2302 course or its equivalent course in the foreign language taken at another institution not more than five years before matriculation into the Baylor graduate program; (2) after matriculation into the Baylor graduate program, and after having satisfied the necessary prerequisites, enrolling in GER 2320 and receiving a grade of "B" or better; (3) enrolling in GER 5370/5371 and receiving a grade of "B" or better in 5371;
(4) taking the reading examination offered by the Department of Modern Foreign Languages;
(5) presenting a degree from a foreign university where German is the principal language. With the approval of the Church Music faculty, another language more appropriate to the student's dissertation research area may be substituted, in which case the equivalent courses in the other language may be substituted for those listed above.

4.5 Preliminary Examinations

Preliminary examinations qualify the student as a candidate for the Ph.D. or D.M.A. in Church Music. Preliminary examinations may not be taken until all leveling requirements are satisfied, the German requirement is completed, and 39 credit hours toward the degree have been finished.

Preliminary examinations will consist of: (1) two written examinations in Church Music; (2) an examination in music history/literature/theory; (3) an examination in the applied major (D.M.A.) or minor area (Ph.D.); and (4) a comprehensive oral examination. While the examinations generally focus on the areas of the student's doctoral seminars, they may range through the whole field of music and are designed to explore the breadth and depth of the student's total musical knowledge. The student will be evaluated on the integration of knowledge from different fields, the organization of the knowledge, and the clarity of presentation in response to the questions. The examinations are designed to be passed by students who have thoroughly mastered the subjects of their seminars and prepared themselves for a lifetime as a professional in the field of music. Students must pass the written examinations before the oral will be scheduled. Students who pass three of the written examinations may retake the failed portion. Failure of two or more examinations means that all written examinations must be retaken. Failure to pass the oral requires that the student retake only the oral examination. No portion of the examinations may be taken more than twice.

4.6 Dissertation (Ph.D.)

The dissertation is the opportunity for the Ph.D. student to demonstrate comprehensive knowledge and skill in conducting original research, the use of primary and secondary documents, the synthesis of information, and clarity of writing style. The purpose of the dissertation is to make an original contribution to knowledge in the field of church music.

While work on the dissertation project may begin informally before the completion of the preliminary examinations, students may not enroll in dissertation for credit until all preliminary examinations are passed, and the student has been admitted into candidacy. After completion of the examinations, the student will meet with his/her advisor to determine a proposed subject for the dissertation. This topic must be directly related to the field of church music. After determining the basic subject and form of the dissertation, the student will prepare a prospectus for the project under the guidance of the advisor.

The prospectus should establish the purpose, need for, and feasibility of the study. The scope and limitations of the study should be made clear, together with reasons for the boundaries. The prospectus should also address methodology and approaches to anticipated problems. A proposed outline for the work will be included, showing the title and content of each chapter. A comprehensive bibliography of primary and secondary resources to be used in researching the topic should be appended.

When completed, five copies of the prospectus will be delivered to the student's dissertation committee. The dissertation committee will consist of five members of the graduate faculty, at least one of whom must be external to the School of Music. Upon approval of the prospectus, first and second readers will be assigned by the Graduate Program Director in consultation with the Church Music faculty. The readers will be chosen based on the unique scope and subject of the dissertation. The first reader will be from the Church Music faculty, while the second may be from outside the Church Music area.

The dissertation must be approved by the first and second readers and submitted in multiple copies to the dissertation committee at least sixty days before the anticipated date of graduation. If the work is found acceptable, a final oral exam will be scheduled according to the Graduate School’s guidelines and timetable to defend the dissertation.

4.7 Recitals and Document (D.M.A.)

The recitals are the opportunity for the D.M.A. student to demonstrate knowledge and skill at the highest level on his or her particular instrument, voice, or conducting in a variety of repertoire.

The first recital will normally be given near the middle of the student's doctoral study.

The student may not enroll for the second recital and its accompanying document until all preliminary examinations are passed.

The document that accompanies the second recital must be completed and approved by first and second readers before the recital is scheduled. The document will consist of a description of the overall theme of the recital (if any), an exposition of the historical background of the pieces to be performed, biographical information on the composers represented, a musical (and textual) analysis of the pieces, rehearsal plans (for conducting recitals), and a description of how each particular item fits into the overall scheme of the recital.

The repertoire for both recitals will be developed by the student in consultation with the applied teacher, but must be approved by the student's graduate committee before the recital is scheduled or the document written.
If the second recital is found to be acceptable, a final oral exam will be scheduled according to the Graduate School guidelines and time table for dissertation defenses. The oral exam will cover both the actual performance and the supporting document. The final examination committee will consist of five members of the graduate faculty, at least one of whom must be external to the School of Music.

5. ACADEMIC INFORMATION

5.1. Credit Load for Graduate Students

To be classified as a full-time student in music, a graduate student in music must carry a minimum of six graduate-level academic credits, plus be enrolled in one or more ensembles, unless a student is exempt from the ensemble requirement due to her/his major (See Section 3.2.) Please be aware that the Federal government, the Graduate School, some scholarship funds, and some loans companies consider nine (9) hours to be full time. Ph.D. students who are enrolled in dissertation credits are considered full-time students.

The maximum number of semester hours for which master’s students may register in a semester of the regular academic year is fifteen (15), of which only twelve (12) can be for graduate credit. No more than twelve (12) semester hours may be taken in the summer session.

5.2 Credit Load and Required Additional Forms for Graduate Assistants

Tuition remission for a graduate assistant with a full assistantship covers a total of fifteen (15) hours per academic year.

Graduate students receiving a stipend must have an I-9 Form on file in the Graduate School as required by the U.S. Department of Justice, Immigration, and Naturalization Service before she/he can receive a stipend/paycheck. The student must present proper identification (valid passport, or a U.S. state-issued driver's license with a photograph and an original Social Security card).

5.3 Grade-point Average

Any fully-admitted student who fails to maintain a 3.0 (B) average within the passing range of 4.0 (A) to 2.0 (C) during any semester of the graduate course of study will be placed on probation for the next nine (9) semester hours of course work or until all residence course work is completed, whichever occurs first. During the probationary period the student must restore the overall average to a 3.0 (B). Failure to do so will result in dismissal without appeal. Passing grades for graduate students are A, A-, B+, B, B- C+, and C. The grade of “D” carries one grade point per hour; however, it will not apply toward the total number of hours required for program completion. If a C- or lower grade is earned in a required course, the course must be repeated; both grades are computed in the overall Grade Point Average. Graduate assistants who are placed on probation are not eligible to remain on assistantship.
5.4 Incompletes

The grade of “I” (incomplete) may be given only where the completed portion of work in the course is of passing quality. It is the student's responsibility to complete the course requirements and to see that the incomplete grade is removed from the record. Certain courses designated by the departments carry extended periods for completion. All incompletes must be removed before the Oral Examination date can be established.

5.5 Transfer Credit towards the M.M. degree

The School of Music will accept transfer credit from other institutions towards the Master of Music degree. Transfer of credit occurs after enrollment in the Graduate School and must be approved by the Graduate Program Director in consultation with appropriate faculty members, and by petition with appropriate documentation of transcripts to the Graduate School for approval.

Credit towards the Master of Music degree transferred from other universities shall be allowed subject to the following provisions:

1. 25% of the required Baylor coursework (excluding internships, practica, recitals, and theses) may be petitioned for transfer,
2. course work must be from an accredited university,
3. course work must have been taken no more than 5 years prior to matriculation,
4. course work must carry a grade of “B” or better,
5. the total number of transferred credits may not exceed 7 hours in M.M. programs, 12 semester hours for doctoral students in the School of Music.

All transfer courses must be approved by the Graduate School.

5.6 Course Numbering for Graduate Credit

Courses numbered 5000 and above are limited to graduate students. Selected courses numbered 4000-4V99 are open to graduate students. Graduate credit will not be allowed for courses numbered below 4000. Courses numbered 6000 are limited to doctoral students. The second number in the course number indicates how many hours of credit the student will earn upon successful completion of the course (i.e., MUS 5320 carries 3 hours of credit; MUS 5151 carries 1 hour of credit).

5.7 Style Manuals

5.8 Guidelines for Theses and Dissertations

The thesis serves as the capstone of the M.M. programs in Music History and Music Theory and the Thesis Concentration of the M.M. and M.M./M.Div in Church Music. A dissertation serves as the capstone of the Ph.D. in Church Music. The student conducts independent research and presents his or her findings in a well-written, scholarly document. For more information about formulating a thesis prospectus, see Appendix J. All theses and dissertations must follow Baylor University Graduate School’s guidelines and deadlines. It is essential that students consult the Graduate School’s website:
http://www.baylor.edu/graduate/currentstudents/index.php?id=99928

6. ADMINISTRATION OF GRADUATE STUDENT'S PROGRAM

6.1 Diagnostic Examinations for MM and Doctoral Degree Programs

Following acceptance to a graduate degree program in music, the student must take diagnostic tests in (1) music theory, and (2) music history, and, where applicable to the degree program, proficiency examinations in (3) keyboard and diction. The results of these tests are employed to formulate a plan of study in accordance with the student's background and needs. The examinations are scheduled during the week before the first day of classes for the fall semester, and the Saturday preceding the first week of the spring semester.

Music Theory Diagnostic
The graduate music theory diagnostic examination includes melodic and harmonic dictation, analysis of form, and knowledge of concepts relative to traditional harmonic procedures and of twentieth-century compositional techniques (see Appendix A). Students who do not pass all or part of this exam may retake the portions they have not passed one additional time or take and pass the course MUS 5100 Music Theory Review. If a student fails the Theory exam twice or fails a section of it twice, then they must enroll in and successfully complete MUS 5100 prior to registering for Analytical Techniques (MUS 5302).

Music History Diagnostic Exam
The music history diagnostic exam assesses a student’s knowledge of European and American music history. If a student passes all areas of the diagnostic exam, he/she will be able to enroll in any graduate-level music history course (5000-level or above). If the diagnostic exam reveals weaknesses in three or more eras of music history the student will be required to enroll in and successfully complete Graduate Music History Review (MUS 5011); this course serves as the prerequisite for the graduate music history seminars. If the diagnostic test reveals a weakness in one or two eras, students must take a graduate-level seminar in each era not passed, take and pass a separate exam over each era not passed, or some combination of these; students may also elect to take MUS 5011 (Graduate Music History Review) to satisfy this leveling.

Students may take the complete music history diagnostic exam only once. Students who do not pass or take the period exam at the next time it is offered will be required to enroll in Graduate Music History Review or the appropriate seminar. If students wish to take a period exam, they must contact the School of Music Graduate Office ten (10) days prior to the beginning of the semester. Both the diagnostic and period exams may include listening, essay, short answer, matching, and identification questions. See Appendix B for more information.

Diction Diagnostic Exam
The diction examination, required of Vocal Performance, Collaborative Piano, Choral Conducting, and Church Music with vocal performance emphasis majors, examines knowledge of the rules for pronunciation of Italian, German, and French. It is a written examination. Knowledge of the International Phonetic Alphabet is required to pass this examination. Spelling rules for each language will be tested and then applied in word and phrase examples by transcribing these examples into the IPA. Some questions deal with articulation specific to each language.

To prepare for the diction examinations, the following textbooks would be helpful:

Choral Conducting Majors must also demonstrate knowledge of the rules for proper pronunciation of Latin. This exam is administered by the Director of Choral Activities.

Conducting Diagnostic Exam (Doctoral Students Only)
The Conducting Diagnostic Exam insures that all doctoral students have basic conducting skills, whatever their concentration. The Conducting exam has three components.

(1) The student will be asked to conduct several measures of the following patterns: 2-beat, 3-beat, 4-beat, 5-beat (both simple and compound), 7-beat (both simple and compound), 9-beat (simple only), and 12-beat (simple only).

(2) The student will conduct a short melody that uses mixed meters. The student will not see the example until the time of the exam, but will be given an opportunity to peruse it before he/she is asked to conduct it.

(3) The student will conduct an extract (approximately 25 measures) from one of the following pieces: Palestrina, “Sicut cervus”; Hassler, “Cantate Domino”; Tallis, “If Ye Love Me.” The choice of which piece is up to the student. This portion of the exam will be prepared in advance and will assess the student’s ability to give cues, indicate cut-offs, tempo changes, etc.

All remedial work must be completed before the final comprehensive oral examination or doctoral preliminary examinations can be scheduled.
6.2 Piano Proficiency

The graduate piano proficiency examination for majors in Church Music and Composition consists of an audition to establish a competency in piano at a minimum of Level IVs (Appendices C and D). Students in Music Theory and Music History and Literature must demonstrate competency in piano at a minimum of Level VIIIs (Appendix E). Students whose major instrument is piano or organ are exempt from this examination. The proficiency examination will call for a sampling from the requirements; for example, the Music History examination will not call for the student to play six prepared pieces, but for a sampling of the six pieces that have been prepared. The piano proficiency requirement may be fulfilled by completing two semesters (two consecutive summer terms equal one semester) of Piano with a minimum grade of “B.”

6.3 Voice Proficiency (Doctoral Students only)

As all church musicians will be called upon to model singing regardless of their primary instrument, church music students are expected to show a basic competency in singing by:

Students will have fulfilled the proficiency if they:
1. have passed two semesters of applied voice during prior collegiate study.
2. earn a passing grade in one semester of MUS 51V1 or 52V1 (Applied voice)
3. earn a passing grade in MUS 5150 (Seminar in Performance & Pedagogy)
4. pass a proficiency exam by singing one of the following hymns with piano accompaniment before a faculty committee: “My country ‘tis of thee,” “Amazing grace,” “Were you there when they crucified my Lord,” or “Come, thou fount of every blessing.” Competency will primarily be based upon intonation, tone quality, and diction.

6.4 Advisement and Plan of Study

The School of Music's Graduate Program Director serves as the official Graduate Student Advisor for all graduate students in music. The student will meet with the Graduate Program Director to design a tentative Plan of Study. The Graduate Program Director and the student, who together formulate a program that is appropriate for the particular degree and the student’s individual goals, interests, and capabilities, draft the Plan of Study. The Plan of Study will include provisions to remove any deficiencies that have surfaced through the diagnostic entrance examinations. It is the student’s responsibility to insure that s/he fulfills all the School of Music and Graduate School requirements for her/his degree program.

6.5 The Graduate Student’s Committee

A graduate student’s committee approves his/her recital or thesis and conducts and assesses the student’s comprehensive oral exam (see 5.7 below).

The specific functions for the committee in each degree program include:
1. Approval of recital programs
2. Approval and grading of recitals
3. Approval of the thesis prospectus (if applicable)
4. Guidance of thesis or dissertation or practicum (if applicable)
5. Administration of the oral examination
6. Assessment of the oral examination
7. Counsel and advice

The Graduate School vests control of a graduate student's program in his/her committee. The School of Music’s Graduate Program Director and the graduate student's committee are the final arbiters of the curriculum of study and the satisfactory completion of particular requirements, such as recitals and theses, within the guidelines established by the Graduate Faculty of the School of Music and the Graduate School.

6.6 Membership of the Graduate Committee for Master of Music Programs

The graduate committee for most majors shall consist of at least three (3) faculty members. (Church Music, Conducting, Piano Pedagogy and Performance, and double majors require more; see the explanations below.) Typically, the committee will consist of two faculty members from the student’s principal or major area and one from another division of the School of Music. At least two (2) committee members must be members of the Graduate Faculty; preferably all three persons will be. The chair of the committee must be a member of the Graduate Faculty. For Performance majors, typically the student’s applied teacher serves as chair. For example, a viola performance major’s graduate committee would consist of the viola professor, another string faculty member, and a faculty member from another division (Music Education, Vocal Studies, Music Theory, Music History, etc.).

Additional members may be added to the committee at the request of the student or committee chair with the approval of the Graduate Program Director.

Double Majors: The committee for students who are double majors shall consist of at least four members of the Graduate Faculty, two from each of the student’s majors.

Church Music: Church Music requires three Church Music professors plus one other music professor who is not in Church Music.

Conducting: Conducting requires the participation of the Directors of Orchestral, Band, and Choral Activities, plus one other music professor who is not on the conducting faculty.

Piano Pedagogy and Performance: Piano Pedagogy and Performance requires the Piano Pedagogy professor, the student’s applied teacher, one other piano faculty member, plus one other music professor who is not in the Keyboard Division.

Oral Exam Committee: The student’s graduate committee plus a graduate faculty member from outside the School of Music administers the oral comprehensive examination. At the time the date of the final oral examination is established the student will select a graduate faculty member from outside the School of Music who will serve as the Graduate School representative at the examination. See the \textit{Graduate Catalog} or check with the Administrative Assistant for the School of Music’s Graduate program for a list of graduate faculty members, or consult the Graduate School’s website: \url{http://www.baylor.edu/graduate/facultystaff/index.php?id=100149}

For more details about the oral exam, see Section 6.10

\textbf{6.7 Membership of the Ph.D. Dissertation Committee}

The dissertation committee will consist of five members of the graduate faculty, at least one of whom must be external to the School of Music. Upon approval of the prospectus, first and second readers will be assigned by the Graduate Program Director in consultation with the Church Music faculty. The readers will be chosen based on the unique scope and subject of the dissertation. The first reader will be from the Church Music faculty, while the second may be from outside the Church Music area.

\textbf{6.8 Membership of the D.M.A. Graduate Committee}

The DMA committee will consist of at least five members of the graduate faculty. For the first recital, it will include the student’s applied teacher, another professor from the same division, and the three Church Music faculty. For the second recital, accompanying document, and final oral examination, the committee must include a member of the graduate faculty external to the School of Music. Additional members may be added to the committee at the request of the student or committee chair with the approval of the Graduate Program Director.

\textbf{6.9 Time for Committee Formation}

The graduate student's committee for Performance and Thesis majors shall be established at the beginning of the second semester of the student's graduate program to provide sufficient time for evaluation of the recital program or thesis prospectus. The graduate committee for all other students shall be established by the conclusion of the second semester of the student's program.

\textbf{6.10 Final Oral Examination: Master of Music}

All candidates for a master's degree must pass a comprehensive oral examination.

The comprehensive oral examination assesses a student's overall knowledge of and ability to speak intelligently and articulately about many aspects of music. Students should be prepared to answer questions concerning musical repertoire, music history, music theory, and pedagogical and philosophical issues, particularly how these areas intersect with his/her area of specialization.

For students whose degree programs require a thesis or a final research project, the oral exam will include, but will not be limited to, a defense of the thesis or project. All committee members will receive a copy of the document at least a week prior to the exam. The committee may request that revisions be made to the document before the final copy is submitted.

1. A request to schedule an oral examination must be submitted to the Graduate Program Director by the student at least eleven working days prior to the requested date of the examination. The Graduate Program Director submits the official request to the Graduate School on behalf of the student at least ten working days prior to the date of the examination.

2. The oral exam will not be administered until after all the student’s degree recitals and/or thesis have been completed. All incompletes must be removed and all deficiencies completed before an oral examination can be scheduled.

3. The student’s graduate committee plus a graduate faculty member from outside the School of Music will administer the examination. (See 6.6)

4. The student and committee members should allow an hour and a half for the exam. A student may not schedule the oral examination in such a way that he or she misses a regularly scheduled class.

The exam is Pass/Fail. Exceptionally strong exams may be awarded the honor of Pass With Distinction.

If a student fails the oral exam s/he must wait at least four months to retake the exam (Baylor University policy). The student also must be registered for at least one hour of graduate credit during the term that s/he retakes the exam and reapply for graduation.

6.11 Final Oral Examination: Ph.D. and D.M.A.

All candidates for a doctoral degree must pass a final oral examination. For PhD students, the will include a defense of the dissertation; for DMA students it will include a defense of the performance document. Additionally, the comprehensive oral examination assesses a student’s overall knowledge of and ability to speak intelligently and articulately about many aspects of music, particularly as it relates to his/her research area or performance specialty.

The final examination will not be administered until after all the student’s dissertation or degree recitals and performance document have been fulfilled.

If a student fails the final exam s/he may take a second one only upon the recommendation of the Committee Chair and the Graduate Program Director and the approval of the Graduate School. The student must wait at least four months to retake the exam (Baylor University policy). After two failures, no further examination is permitted.
7. LEAD TIMES AND SEQUENCES FOR RECITALS, THESES, ORAL EXAMS AND GRADUATION

7.1 Master’s Recitals

The recitals will consist of repertoire learned while the student is in residence for the degree, and the first recital may be given at any time after the completion of two hours of the applied music major. The student must be enrolled for applied music during the term in which a recital is given. The content of each recital must be approved by the student’s graduate committee. Submit the program to the applied teacher, then to each member of the committee, and finally to the Graduate Program Director. The literature and times must be approved in writing by the student's graduate committee and the Graduate Program Director. The Graduate Program Director will not approve the recital unless all committee members have signed the program draft. If any committee member requests that the program be modified or completely changed, he/she will make such request in writing; the request will be placed in the student's file.

The program must be approved and signed at least sixteen (16) days prior to the recital. (For more details about recital procedures, see Section 7 below.)

7.2 Thesis

After consultation with the major professor, students in thesis degree programs will present their prospectus to the graduate committee by the end of the second semester of study. The prospectus should contain (a) a statement of the thesis, (b) an outline of the paper, and (c) a bibliography. (For more details concerning the prospectus and what it should include, see Appendix J.) Upon approval of the prospectus by the committee the student may register for thesis and proceed with the proposed project. Students will not be allowed to register for thesis until their prospectus has been approved. The student’s graduate committee should reflect the area/topic of the thesis.

7.3 Application for Graduation

Graduating students must file for graduation with the Graduate School at the beginning of their last semester or term of study. For specific dates see the Academic Calendar for Music Graduate Students at the end of this handbook or the Graduate School website.

7.4 Establishment of the Oral Examination

To submit the appropriate request and documentation to the Graduate School, candidates in all programs must schedule the oral examination no later than ten (10) working days before the date of the examination. Note: All "incompletes" must be removed and all deficiencies completed prior to scheduling the oral examination. (See Section 5.5 for more details about who needs to serve on the committee that assesses the exam.)
For all dates related to the oral examination see the Academic Calendar for Music Graduate Students at the end of this handbook.

GRADUATE RECITAL
(For a summary of these procedures, see the Graduate Recital Checklist)

8.1 Scheduling

Graduate recitals may be scheduled according to the dates listed in the Academic Calendar for Music Graduate Students at the end of this handbook. Once a recital is scheduled on the School of Music calendar, a $25 fee will be assessed for every change.

A Recital Reservation Form (Appendix F) must be obtained and submitted to the Administrative Assistant in the McCrary Music Building Lobby to schedule a recital.

A recital reservation will include a thirty (30) minute setup time before the program and a thirty (30) minute breakdown and storage time after the program. An additional thirty (30) minutes of setup time may be requested for percussion and composition recitals.

8.2 Location and Time

Recitals may be presented in Meadows Lecture/Recital Hall, Roxy Grove Hall, or Recital Hall II at any time on Monday through Saturday or prior to 6:00 p.m. on Sunday. Recitals may be scheduled in Powell Chapel at Truett Seminary through the Seminary offices.

8.3 Length of Recital

A minimum of forty-five (45) minutes of music is required; maximum length is sixty (60) minutes of music. Precise length and repertoire expectations vary by discipline. Please consult your studio professor and the Chair of your Division.

8.4 Recital Reservations

All reservations for recitals are made through the Administrative Assistant in the lobby of McCrary Music Building between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m., and 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Generally, students may begin signing up for fall dates on the Tuesday after Labor Day and spring dates on the second Tuesday of the spring semester.

Recitals may not be scheduled at the same time as a faculty or ensemble performance.

Recitals must be presented on or before the last day of classes in a semester.

Students who plan to graduate at the end of the spring semester need to allow sufficient time to report the results of the recital to the Graduate School prior to their oral exams and therefore should schedule their recitals accordingly. (For more information, please see the Academic Calendar at the end of the handbook.)

Non-degree recitals may be scheduled 30 calendar days prior to the recital date and must be presented before March 16 for spring recitals (there is no cut-off date for fall recitals). Performances may be presented in Meadows Lecture/Recital Hall, Roxy Grove Hall, or Recital Hall II on Monday through Friday. The time must be scheduled so that the halls are vacated prior to 6:15 p.m.

8.5 Exceptions

Any deviations from the specified recital policies must be approved by the Associate Dean of the School of Music.

8.6 Cancellations and Rescheduling

Notice of cancellation or change of recital date must be submitted in writing to the administrative assistant in the lobby of McCrary Music Building and to the Administrative Assistant of the Graduate Program in Waco Hall East (Room 104). Permission to reschedule a recital date must be granted by the Dean. In the event that a reservation is added or changed after the first day of class, the new reservation may not supplant a previously scheduled faculty or student performance. See also section 8.4

8.7 Programs

The layout and printing of recital programs are the responsibility of the performer. Students are required to follow this procedure and the specifications listed below. If you have any questions, please see the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs.

When your recital repertoire has been finalized you must prepare a preliminary program using the program template of the Baylor School of Music. After initial proofreading by the major professor, the program should be signed by each member of the student’s Graduate Committee. The last signature to be obtained is that of the Graduate Program Director. At that time, the student should inform the Administrative Assistant for the School of Music’s Graduate Program (WHE 104) of the date, time, location, and committee make-up for the recital.

Submit one (1) preliminary program, signed by the student's graduate committee and the Graduate Program Director to the Administrative Assistant in the lobby of McCrary Music Building at least sixteen (16) days prior to the recital. Include timing of pieces.

Submit twenty-six (26) programs and the signed Recital Reservation Form to the Administrative Assistant, lobby of McCrary Music Building, no later than fifteen (15) days prior to the recital. Failure to submit the Recital Reservation Form with the required number of recital programs will prevent the student from scheduling dress rehearsals with the Administrative Assistant (MMB lobby).
Program templates are provided on the School of Music website at:
http://www.baylor.edu/music/index.php?id=93532 Students are strongly encouraged to read the template carefully and refer to examples of past programs when preparing their recital programs.

A member of the School of Music recording studio staff will record each approved performance. Staff members will be available thirty (30) minutes before the performance to assist with pre-concert setup of recording equipment, and for thirty (30) minutes following the concert to assist with recording equipment breakdown and storage. The School of Music does not provide videotaping of performances.

School of Music equipment may be used for producing recordings or duplications if the following conditions are met:

1. Fees will be assessed for use of the equipment

2. Recording Studio personnel must be contracted to serve as technicians for recordings using School of Music equipment. These persons can be scheduled through the Office of the Hall Manager/Recording Technician (MMB 212).
3. All fees for personnel and supplies will be paid by the user. A list of fees is available in the Office of the Hall Manager/Recording Technician (MMB 212).

Recordings made without School of Music equipment require no fees. However, the Hall Manager/Recording Technician must approve any recording done in School of Music Facilities. School of Music video equipment is not available for student recordings of any type. For additional information contact the Concert and Promotion office (RG 200).

9. CROUCH FINE ARTS LIBRARY

9.1 Introduction

Baylor University's Crouch Fine Arts Library, located on Level 3 of Moody Memorial Library Building, has long been one of the outstanding music collections in the Southwest, with holdings that include more than 110,000 volumes of music and music-related materials and more than 50,000 recorded media items. The Library provides a wide variety of online resources to support music study, performance, and research. These include research databases for music literature as well as reference works, e-books, music scores, audio and video recordings, and archival collections. For more information, please see http://researchguides.baylor.edu/cfal and http://www.baylor.edu/lib/finearts/

The Crouch Library also houses a fine collection of rare materials, such as the Mrs. J.W. Jennings Collection of Medieval Music Manuscripts and Early Printed Music, the Francis G. Spencer Collection of American Popular Sheet Music, the Harry Eskew Collection in Hymnology, and the Ouseley Collection dating from the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. For more information about these and other special collections, see the Crouch Library website. (http://www.baylor.edu/lib/finearts/)

9.2 Course Reserves

Virtually all music recordings on reserve, as well as some scores, are provided online through Baylor Box. A reserve list with links is provided in the Canvas site for each course. Any physical items on reserve will also be listed there. Reserve lists are maintained by the Crouch Library staff, and are also available at the Service Desk.

Audio recordings in Baylor Box may be played directly from a web browser, without any additional software.

Physical reserve materials are checked out at the Crouch Library Service Desk. They must be used within the Moody and Jones buildings.
APPENDIX A

Music Theory Diagnostic Examination

I. Exam format

The exam consists of two parts: aural and written. The aural portion tests your musicianship skills through dictation and aural analysis of music from the common practice period. The written portion, on the other hand, tests your analytical proficiency through score study. The information below provides more specifics about the exam:

Aural

APPENDIX B
Music History and Literature
Diagnostic Examination

The Music History and Literature Diagnostic Examination tests a student’s knowledge of western art music. Students are expected to demonstrate a working knowledge of music history and styles from the Middle Ages to the present. The exam will consist of analytical listening, short answers, and a chronology.

Familiarity with the sound of music is essential to understanding the historical developments of musical styles and values. The listening section consists of approximately twelve short musical examples representing each of the historical time periods (Middle Ages to the present). Each example will be played once. Students will be asked to describe styles traits and compositional techniques. Students then will be expected to apply their observations to determine probable genre, date range, historical period, and composer.

The short answer and chronology sections of the diagnostic exam assess knowledge of the following areas:

- Major composers and their significant areas of composition (e.g., symphony, string quartet, cantata, lieder, opera, etc.)
- Historical timeline (i.e., prominent musical techniques associated with each era, common types of works and forms, major composers, philosophies and aesthetic values that impact music, significant historical and cultural events, dates for each time period, etc.)
- Major terms and musical forms from each time period and composers associated with them.

To prepare for these examinations, the following books would be helpful:

Burkholder, J. Peter; Grout, Donald Jay; and Palisca, Claude V. A History of Western Music. [Preferably 8th or 9th edition]

Morgan, Robert. Twentieth-Century Music.

Bonds, Mark Evans. A History of Music in Western Culture.

APPENDIX G
Piano Juries

Advanced Performers Certificate
- Students in the Advanced Performers Certificate program must present a qualifying jury during the first year of residence prior to the first recital as confirmation of full acceptance to the program.
- Students in the Advanced Performers Certificate Program must present a jury in semesters they do not perform a solo recital.

Graduate
- Students in Piano Performance, Piano Pedagogy and Performance, Collaborative Piano, and Church Music (Piano) must present a qualifying jury during the first year of residence prior to the first recital as confirmation of the area of concentration.
- Students in graduate piano degrees must present a jury in semesters they do not give a degree recital.
- Students in Theory, Composition, Music History, and Church Music must perform a jury each semester they are registered in piano until all degree requirements in secondary piano have been passed.
Piano Jury Exemptions and Incompletes

Any instructor who determines that a piano major or concentration would profit from a jury exemption in order to work without a deadline on technical matters should practice the following procedure. Written permission to the division director should be received from the student’s instructor with justification for a jury exemption for the semester. This exemption should be counter-signed by the division director. The student who is exempt from the regular semester jury should understand that a jury exemption may increase the length of time required to finish the degree. If the student is a graduate student with an assistantship, he/she should understand that the assistantship cannot be guaranteed beyond two years. In addition, the student should understand that repertoire requirements, which are normally met in a jury, must be made up in future semester juries if a jury exemption is approved.

Non-music majors (electives) and students who have completed degree requirements in secondary piano must present a jury at least every other semester.

A grade of “Incomplete” in piano may be given when a jury is missed due to illness confirmed by a doctor’s excuse or to a death in the immediate family or when a student passes a recital hearing at the end of a semester and the recital will be performed at the beginning of the next semester. In addition, a grade of “I” may be given on very selective occasions when a teacher feels that holding the student responsible for his/her work is preferable to failing the student.
APPENDIX H

GRADUATE RECITAL CHECKLIST

(Please note that these procedures differ from Undergraduate Recitals)

- Register for MUS 5170 (Recital)

APPENDIX I

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING A THESIS PROSPECTUS

Updated September 2014

The thesis serves as the capstone of the M.M. programs in Music History and Music Theory and the Thesis Concentration of the M.M. and M.M./M.Div in Church Music. The student conducts independent research and presents his or her findings in a well-written, scholarly document.

Process and Time Frame

Students will meet with a graduate faculty mentor(s) to develop the subject of the thesis and the prospectus. The completed prospectus should be approved by signature of the faculty member who has agreed to serve as the thesis advisor before being circulated to the remaining members of the student’s graduate committee. The thesis advisor will serve as chair of the student’s thesis committee. The student will inform that Graduate Program Director that his/her thesis prospectus is under review, who has agreed to serve on the committee, and the date of the prospectus defense.

The student’s graduate committee will review the prospectus and then meet with the student to discuss the proposal and give final approval to the prospectus. The committee may decide to approve the prospectus, request slight revisions, request substantial revisions, or ask the student to formulate a new prospectus. When the committee approves the prospectus, each committee member and the Graduate Program Director will sign the thesis prospectus signature page.

The Graduate Handbook of the School of Music states that the prospectus must be presented to the graduate committee “no later than the end of the second semester of study.” Under normal circumstances, students will register for one or two hours of thesis credit in their third semester; they will register for either one or two hours of thesis credit during the fourth semester. The Graduate School requires that students must be registered for thesis credit or a course during the semester in which they defend their theses.

Contents of the Prospectus

The thesis prospectus should consist of the following items.

1. Title page.
2. Signature page.
3. Statement of the thesis. This is a prose section that should include the following information.
   a. The subject matter to be pursued. What is the thesis about?
b. The need for and feasibility of the study. Why does the topic merit study? How and what will it contribute to the body of knowledge? Has another thesis or a book, dissertation, or composition been written on the same or similar topic? If so, how will your study build on or differ from that research?

The prospectus must demonstrate that the student has done sufficient background research and display knowledge of the current literature in the field. It also should address feasibility. Is it possible in the present circumstances to complete a study on this topic? The study may not be feasible if appropriate sources are not available; e.g., one should not consider writing a thesis on a medieval manuscript if you have no access to the manuscript.

c. The methodology to be employed. Will this be a “traditional” research document? Will interviews be conducted? Is music transcription involved? Will you be relying upon primary and secondary sources?

d. The scope and limitations of the project. What is going to be included and what excluded? How will the topic be limited by time, geography, medium, geography, musical form, etc.? What works will you address and/or use as case studies?

e. The expected problems and proposed solutions. What special requirements are needed to complete the task and how do you propose to meet them? For example, will the project require special knowledge of a language, transcribing recordings, transcribing unfamiliar notation, acquisition of scores? How do you plan to meet these obstacles?

4. A proposed outline of the paper (chapter titles and any significant subheadings) or composition.

5. A comprehensive preliminary bibliography of sources to be used in researching and writing the thesis.

Formatting of the Prospectus

The formatting of the prospectus should follow the instructions for theses/dissertations as found in “Guidelines for Preparing the Dissertation and Thesis” (Graduate School section of Baylor website). Note especially the following items and their exceptions.

1. Title page (see relevant appendix). In place of “A Dissertation Submitted . . .” use “A Thesis Prospectus Submitted . . .”
2. Signature page (see relevant appendix). In place of “Approved by the Graduate School” use “Approved by the Graduate Studies Director.”

3. Margins and page numbering.

4. Do not include a table of contents.

Some more advice: Kate Turabian’s A Manual for Writers is the style manual used in the School of Music. The opening chapters contain some valuable advice concerning formulating and refining a research topic. Students are strongly encouraged to read (and reread) Chapters 1, 2, and 5 and to consult other chapters as they write their theses.

Student also should participate in the thesis and dissertation formatting workshops offered periodically by the Baylor University Graduate School. For more information, please go to: http://www.baylor.edu/graduate/currentstudents/index.php?id=99928

Students who are double majors: The graduate committee for students who are double majoring will incorporate the graduate committee for the first major and any additional faculty required by the second major. For example, a Vocal Performance/Music History major will need at least two voice faculty and two music history faculty to serve on his/her graduate committee. The thesis readers may be a subset (three faculty members) from the whole committee.
