

Title: A Shared Set of Values

Production Company: Association of American Publishers
Software Publishers Association

Reorder Information:

Length: 12 minutes

Synopsis:

Who gets hurt when you illegally copy books and software protected by copyright?
Would it make a difference if that person were a friend?

This fast paced video presents the question in a very personal way: when Joe copies project data from Sherry's laptop, their class is forced to grapple head-on with the issue of protecting intellectual property.

This video features interviews with the programmers, authors, and publishers whose output is sometimes pirated and it illuminates practical and ethical considerations.
