

GuideStone launches new Inflation Protected Bond Fund

Effective June 25, 2009, GuideStone Funds launched its Inflation Protected Bond Fund. Available in the GS4 Class, the Fund seeks to provide inflation protection and income consistent with investment in inflation-protected - also known as inflation-indexed - securities. Participants who are eligible for GS2 Class shares are also eligible for shares of the Inflation Protected Bond Fund.

Participants who hold shares of the MyDestination Funds™ will begin seeing the Inflation Protected Bond Fund in their MyDestination Funds mix about 15 years before the Funds' target date. Participants who hold shares of the Conservative Allocation and Conservative Allocation I Funds will also invest in the Inflation Protected Bond Fund as a component of the Funds' asset allocation. In addition, the Fund is being integrated with recommendations from the upcoming Guided Planning Services from GuideStone Advisors.

The Fund is also available for direct investment.

The Fund invests mostly in inflation-indexed debt securities issued by U.S. and foreign governments, their agencies and instrumentalities. These securities' principal and/or interest are adjusted periodically for inflation. The inflation adjustment, which is typically applied to the principal, follows a designated index, such as the Consumer Price Index - Urban, Non-Seasonally Adjusted (CPI-U NSA) in the United States, or a comparable measure of inflation in a foreign country.

In most cases, a fixed coupon rate is applied to the inflation-adjusted principal so that if inflation rises, both the principal value and the interest payments increase, providing investors with a potential hedge against inflation, as it helps preserve the purchasing power of the investment. If inflation decreases, it is possible to incur a loss in the Fund.

This Fund was designed for investors who have a long-term investment horizon and who want protection from inflation and want to diversify their portfolio with an additional fixed-income investment option. Investors should be able to accept short-term fluctuations in account value. The benchmark for the Fund is the Barclays Capital U.S. TIPS Index. Its sub-adviser is BlackRock Financial Management, Inc. The Fund may be a suitable addition to the investment portfolio of some investors, but is not intended to be the sole investment in any portfolio.

You should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the GuideStone Funds carefully before investing. A prospectus with this and other information about the Funds may be obtained by calling 1-888-98-GUIDE (1-888-984-8433) or download one at www.GuideStone.org. It should be read carefully before investing.

The Fund value will fluctuate in response to interest rates and other economic factors. Bond prices typically drop as interest rates rise and vice versa. The yield earned will also vary with changes in interest rates and other economic factors. It is possible to lose money by investing in the Fund. Because the interest payments of this fund are linked to inflation, the income distributed from this fund may fluctuate more than a typical bond fund. Although some issuers of inflation-indexed securities guarantee to pay at least the original principal value of any inflation-indexed bond it issues, other issuers may not offer the same guarantee. As a result, securities held by the Fund may suffer a loss of principal as well as lower income during periods of sustained deflation.

GuideStone Fund shares are distributed by PFPC Distributors, Inc., a registered broker-dealer and underwriter of the funds, 760 Moore Road, King of Prussia, PA 19406.
