

“Medical Humanities DeBakey Scholarship 2009 Fall Semester Winners”

Audrey Campbell - I am a senior medical humanities major, biology and chemistry minor with a goal of attending medical school in 2010. I am very passionate about international mission work and I hope to someday construct medical clinics in western Africa. While at Baylor University, I have been blessed with serving in both AMSA and BUMEDS.

Prince Adotama is majoring in Biology with a double minor in Chemistry and Medical Humanities. When he is not studying and preparing for his classes, Prince leads Baylor’s Collegiate Chapter of NAACP as President and works on new dance moves as Vice President of Poppers, Lockers, and Breakers. He has plans to enter medical school after graduating in May 2011 from Baylor University.

Jamal Hasoon

I am a Junior from Katy, TX majoring in Medical Humanities here at Baylor. With any luck I will enter medical school after graduation in 2011, but I am unsure of what field I will specialize in afterwards. I currently like neurology and radiology, but my interests usually change on a weekly basis. Other than medicine, my hobbies/interests include art (sketching/painting) and playing videogames, which are essential for hand-eye coordination in my opinion. Of course I also love reading my science textbooks with limited pictures in my free time while working on homework!

"I am a senior Medical Humanities minor. I am a part of this program because I believe a physician should be equipped with both a knowledge and understanding about the human experience in order to truly care for the patient. This program has further enabled me to explore the human aspect of medicine. I will be graduating in December 2010, and I hope to attend medical school in August 2011 in pursuit of a career in Pediatric Cardiology."
