President Martha Lou Scott welcomed members and guests to the annual Round Table Christmas celebration. She asked everyone to join her in expressing appreciation to Stephen Prickett for allowing Round Table to use the Foyer of Meditation for the Christmas program. She then introduced Anita Rolf, Program Coordinator, and thanked her and her committee for the preparations they had made for the program. Committee members are Dana Bowden, Pat Busby, Patsy Erskine-Hill, Nancy McKinney, Sarah Jane Murray, Glenda Ramsower, and Sandy Rose.

Anita presented an outline of Round Table events for the morning and called on Judy Schmeltekopf to give the invocation. Anita then gave a brief history of the Baylor University Chamber Singers. After their performance that included arrangements by Dr. Robert Young, Anita thanked the choir members and Dr. Donald Bailey. Dr. Bailey invited everyone to the musical concerts that would be presented by the School of Music through the weekend and early part of the coming week. (The Chamber Singers' concerts this year will highlight music written by Dr. Young.)

Anita asked members and guests to join hands and make a circle around the room. After she reminded us of the importance of the Christmas season and the opportunity that we have to give to others less fortunate, we sang Silent Night as our benediction.

We then followed the choir members downstairs to the Cox Lobby for a delicious lunch that had been prepared by members, whose names are listed in the program. Attendance was very good as the Lobby was filled to capacity. A beautiful centerpiece of roses, magnolia leaves, artichokes, privet hedge berries, and apples was made by the Floral Arrangement Interest Group of Round Table members.

Respectfully submitted,

Martha Lou Scott, President
