Baylor University

Baylor University is a private Christian university and a nationally ranked research institution, consistently listed with highest honors among The Chronicle of Higher Education’s “Great Colleges to Work For.” Chartered in 1845 by the Republic of Texas through the efforts of Baptist pioneers, Baylor is the oldest continuously operating university in Texas. The university provides a vibrant campus community for over 15,000 students from all 50 states and more than 80 countries by blending interdisciplinary research with an international reputation for educational excellence and a faculty commitment to teaching and scholarship. Baylor is actively recruiting new faculty with a strong commitment to scholarship, classroom teaching, and the University’s religious mission as set out in, Pro Futuris. (www.baylor.edu/profuturis/).

Baylor seeks to fill the following faculty position in the Department of Philosophy, within the College of Arts and Sciences:

Associate to Full Professor of Philosophy

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate. You will be asked to provide a letter of application; curriculum vitae; official transcripts showing highest degree conferred, and a list of three references in the application process. Please request that your references send their letters to us. The letter of application should respond to Baylor's most recent mission statement Pro Futuris (available on the web at http://www.baylor.edu/vision) and include an account of the applicant's own religious commitments.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. For a candidate with a particularly eminent scholarly record, the appointment may include the designation of Distinguished Professor of Philosophy.
