

Steven Ryan Mitchell

BA '92 OF TULSA, OKLAHOMA

CAREER EXPERIENCE

Steven Ryan Mitchell is the CEO of Argonaut Private Equity, a private equity and venture capital firm in Tulsa, Oklahoma, with more than $2 billion in assets under management. Prior to joining Argonaut in 2005, Mitchell managed private equity and venture capital investments for Mark Cuban and Todd Wagner as principal at Radical Incubation/2929 Entertainment, and he worked in the legal field as an associate at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher in Dallas and as a law clerk for Judge A. Joe Fish of the Federal District Court-Northern District of Texas. He earned his JD from the University of San Diego School of Law.

BOARD EXPERIENCE

Mitchell serves on civic boards as director of the board at the Philbrook Museum of Art in Tulsa, is vice chair of the Tulsa Development Authority, and is president of the Eisenhower International School Parent-Teacher Association. Corporately, he leads as chair of the Downing Wellhead Inc., JAG Products Inc., S&R Compression and S3 Ventures boards, in addition to serving on boards at Applied Industrial Machining LLC, Global Technology Partners LLC, Pivot3 Inc., Aspen Aerogels Inc., Falcon Flowback LLC, Green Hills Software Inc. and others.

BAYLOR PHILANTHROPY

Mitchell is a Hankamer School of Business donor and partners with the business school's career and professional development office as his company regularly interviews on campus for Hankamer School of Business graduates.

CHURCH/CHRISTIAN MISSION AFFILIATIONS

Mitchell is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Tulsa. A father of three elementary-aged children, he serves as a substitute Sunday School teacher in elementary classes and previously worked as a Young Life leader and donor.