

Inside Sales Representative

Location: Austin, TX Department: Vaask

Type: Full Time Min. Experience: Entry Level

At Vaask, we believe in American manufacturing, we believe in selling directly to our customers, and we believe in talking with them. Constantly. In short, we proudly go against the grain in our quest to establish a higher class of clean with our hand sanitizing system. We're seeking salespeople with real personalities and drive who want to get the hell out of go-nowhere corporate environments.

What you will do

- Dazzle architects, designers and facilities managers with insightful product presentations and proposals using your magnificent public speaking skills.
- Diligently capture insights and feedback from prospects and customers to make the world's best hand sanitizer dispenser even better. And, most importantly, share those insights with our team of engineers and marketers.
- Work in a laid-back – but high-performing – Austin office with smart people.

What you offer

- Intelligence, curiosity and a strong work ethic
- 0-3 years of work experience, preferably in sales
- College degree
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills. Call us crazy, but we like to correctly spell words here.

What we offer

- Full-time employment with competitive pay and opportunities for advancement
- Health, dental and vision insurance plans
- Generous PTO policy. We like our people well-cultured, so we encourage you to see the world.
- An on-site gym, lounge, pool table and breakfast tacos every Friday
- One of the world's best coffee makers. Seriously. Check this out.

About Vaask: Inspired by the Norwegian word for “wash,” Vaask embodies today's desire for a higher class of clean, coupled with an emphasis on sophisticated design. The company is the work of the team behind Big Ass Fans' Haiku®, the ceiling fan beloved by interior designers and architects that has won more than 75 design and technology awards. Led by Jon Olsen, Vaask redefines manufactured products for today's modern interiors. With a goal of designing and engineering enduring, endearing products, Vaask invests in real materials, develops customizable designs and guarantees its American-made craftsmanship. Learn more at vaask.com.