“The Times should entangle itself within WikiLeaks’ hypocrisy.”

The website may have endangered many lives and American ties, but if the Times continues to work with him in any manner other than for interviews, it is allowing itself to want for a breaking truth to curry the press that acts ethically and with integrity.”

Senate gif to the CODE

A bill containing revisions to the Electoral Code was rejected when it was brought before the Student Senate at its Nov. 18 meeting.

The bill was the first of three separate bills to revive the electoral code, but was the second bill dealing with the topic to be rejected in the last month.

Sugar Land sophomore and senator Cathy O’Bryant presented the bill at the Nov. 18 meeting.

“All the revisions were trying to make were somewhat dubitable, and though most of the revisions — I would say that majority of the revisions — were pretty noncontroversial, there was still discussion about a lot of tops,” O’Bryant said, and just the fact that there was still more discussion on the bill that could not be talked was the reason that a lot of senators wanted to vote down this version and wait for a new bill that had more time for everyone to think about and consider.

“The biggest prize is knowing that you made a difference, but it was not nearly as easy of a task as I had planned,” said one senator, the president Michael Chad LeMaster. “This is not an easy task for those of you who are interested in this bill to take the time to understand it. You can’t be interested in this bill without understanding the context.”

Tuya said that in addition to writing a good book lately, activist author and speaker Tuya Talley participated for the first time in National Novel Writing Month in 2008 and 2009. The bearing is 50,000 words in 30 days, which is also the number of words in a standard novel.

Tuya started out with a personal goal of writing 1,000 words each day for 30 days and ended up with 50,000 words.

Tuya stays on track by writing 500 words in the morning and at night.

I try to shoot for 2,000 to 2,500 a day, “ she said. “I shoot for that to have a little bit more acceptable, a little bit less controversial, a little bit more speed.”

LeMaster has published two books of English, one in 2006 and another in 2008, both written by his first wife. The writer is a group of international authors from North Korea, Vietnam, Japan and Guatemala.

LeMaster suffers from severe degenerative arthritis of the spine as well as other infirmities. He cannot drive, and his daughter drives him to campuses from the other side of Waco twice a week and wait for a new bill that had more time for everyone to think about and consider.

MIAMI — The Atlantic Hur- ricane season, which ended as shown in the box, on re- cently signed legislation to establish a hurricane is a hurricane for a fifth time.

All told, 19 named storms formed in the Atlantic basin from the 1987 and 1995 seasons for strong hurricanes that the National Oceanic and Atmosph- eric Administration (NOAA) counted as hurricanes, tying with the 1964 season for the second-most active years.

In the U.S., Texas suffered the worst damage from Tropical Storms.

Flooding spurred by Tropical Storm Hermine in the northeastern part of the state caused millions in damage to infrastruc- ture.

DALLAS — A man who opened fire on a fellow resident as he walked his dog in an upscale Dallas neighborhood also was involved in a nationwide shooting contest

The man opened fire on a fellow resident as he walked his dog in an upscale Dallas neighborhood also was involved in a nationwide shooting contest.

Experts say the shooting contest, called National Novel Writing Month, or NaNoWriMo, is a popular way for people to "recharge their batteries" and get motivated to work on their writing projects.

But some experts say the contest has led to an increase in violence, with at least 10 deaths and dozens of injuries reported in recent years.

One of the main sources of debate is the contest’s reward system, which offers cash prizes to the first person who finishes one million words in a month.

Many experts believe the contest has led to a spike in violence, with at least 10 deaths and dozens of injuries reported in recent years.

For people to come and hear what this event is, it includes all the popular holiday events on campus, Raines said, noting the group is mostly composed of music majors, with a handful of George W. Truett Theological Seminary and non-music majors as well.

This concert along with the in - terdisciplinary concert during Parents Weekend, is one of the only times in the year that all of the choir pro - grams are featured.

“We try to find something that everyone in the community will enjoy, from classical music to tra - ditional Christmas carols to more contemporary pieces,” Raines said.

Christmas at Baylor will take place at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday in the Jones Concert Hall of the McCoy Music Build - ing. Tickets can be sold out, but those interested in attending the event should call the School of Music ticket office at 254-710-3773, to join the event’s waiting list.

The Lady Bears (6-1) rolled to three straight wins over Texas A&M-Commerce, Liberty and Southern Louisiana in the past weekend, running momentum behind a second breaking evening from sophomore post Brittney Griner, who scored 30 points along with a triple-double.

The win comes by scores of 103-41 and 104-61 respectively.

“I feel like I’m doing pretty good,” Griner said. “The guards are finding me when I position myself, so they’re helping me get into the game.”

Johnson, Finnegan fined for scuffle

By Barry Wilner

NEW YORK — Houston's Andre Johnson and Tennessee's Cortland Finnegan were fined ($2,500) but avoided suspensions by the NFL on Monday, the day after their brawl during Thursday's game.

Finnegan set off the brawl by grabbing at Johnson's neck and face mask at the line of scrimmage. Johnson ripped off Finnegan's helmet before players and referees reacted.

Johnson apologized after the game, and Finnegan didn't speak to the incident.

"I would like to apologize to the entire organization, my teammates and my teammates," Johnson said. "I shouldn't have put my hands on Cortland that way. He did exactly what he had to do. I want to apologize to him for that."

"I get it, you're upset," Finnegan said. "I get that. I shouldn't have put my hands on Andre either, but that's what the helmet is for."

"It's the NFL, not the NHL, and it's a little bit different," Finnegan said. "That's the NFL. They get punished for that. The NFL, it's not even heard of."

"If they give him his money's worth," Finnegan said of Johnson choosing the higher road after Monday Night. He apologized for the way he left the field.

"The commissioner said some things in his fourth quarter press conference, so we decided to go quick as a rat to get out of there." Finnegan said that the play ended once his helmet came off, and that he had pounded Johnson. Finnegan likely would have suspended him.

"It is the NFL, not the NHL, and it's a little bit different," Finnegan said. "That's the NFL. They get punished for that. The NFL, it's not even heard of."

"I was happy, we won. That's what matters," Fi...
