The place to go to know the history of Baylor is very creative and very essential component to amping up the university. The courtside players not only provided the crowd with passion through cheering – she’s only receiving it too.

The courtside players add to the games with North Texas, winning the Mountaineers and losing to Ohio State.

The all-girl cheer squad, yell leaders and Baylor cheerleaders play an important part as the lifeblood of Baylor. They keep the spectators connected.

Being the USA comes with messy, delicate obstacles

It is not easy being America. Maybe that's why America often finds itself at the center of controversy. Being America requires more than simply existing between competing poles. Instead, America needs to decide which of its values is most important and then implement policies that reflect those values. This is not always easy, and it can lead to conflict and controversy. But it is necessary if America is to thrive and continue to be a beacon of hope for the world.

Editorial

The Army has not released any of the names of the relatives to the incident, citing the protection of the due process rights of the officials. The Army will be reviewing information, surrounding the event and will decide whether the release of any of that information would be appropriate.

According to ABC News, a report from the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee details that there were warning signs in the Fort Hood case.

Titled “Ticking Time Bomb: Fort Hood Massacre Could Happen Prevented,” the Senate report found that evidence had been ignored or downplayed in the case.

Accountability and responsibility will be top priorities for the media in covering this case, and the move to punish those nine leaders is proof that the Army is committed to that charge.

Being America requires more than simply existing between competing poles. Instead, America needs to decide which of its values is most important and then implement policies that reflect those values. This is not always easy, and it can lead to conflict and controversy. But it is necessary if America is to thrive and continue to be a beacon of hope for the world.

When you spend at least 20 hours a week working with the same people, you eventually find that they like, dislike, and rattle your nerves. The newsroom is no different.

You can’t always get along with everyone you work with. It is possible to have a good day at work and still dislike the way someone is acting.

You may be dealing with people who are rude, difficult to work with, or just plain annoying.

This can be frustrating, especially when you are trying to do your job effectively.

But if you can learn to deal with these situations, you can improve your work environment and make your job more enjoyable.

Actor Bradley Cooper stars in "Limitless," opening Friday.

"Limitless" is the story of Niall Campbell, played by Cooper, a struggling actor who discovers an island off the coast of Maine that holds the world’s largest library of rare books. Among the books in the library are several that contain ancient knowledge, including the one that allows Niall to hear the thoughts of other people. Niall becomes entangled in a world of intrigue and danger as he uses his new abilities to get ahead in Hollywood.

The movie is directed by Eric Bress and Alekobar Jaffarian and written by Shawn S. Gore and Andrew Denham. It stars Cooper, Zoe Kazan, Alessandro Nivola, and Ben Miller.

The NCAA meet field team hit College Station last weekend with a bang, Baylor's track and field athletes exceeded expectations for the relay team, and field representatives included junior Jessica Harbour and sophomore Skylar White. Townsend didn't want any time to waste. Starting the meet by making the women to finish 10th overall team win. Finishing 10th overall is second best in Baylor history.

"I've had a great experience here and I know it's almost time to go. But I want to grab a national championship. And I know it's doable," Townsend said.

Both races and her 14th overall time were so great. They are always cheering me on and supporting us while we are on the court. We are playing very well and winning matches to win the team forward to their ultimate goal of an NCAA title.

This meet was as close as we have ever been to top form for Big 12 championships. Sophomores Drew Prevost earned their way to the team. We are playing very well and supporting us while we are on the court. We are playing very well and winning matches to win the team forward to their ultimate goal of an NCAA title.

The key is for the girls to want to improve," Scrivano said. "Attitude will fuel that change in their game plan every match."

"I'm a huge sports fan, and I'm excited to see how my players play out the season." The second weekend of track and field competition begins against Texas A&M. It's safe to say Townsend is hungry for the future, as she finishes her career at Baylor.

"I'm thankful for the honor. I'm already looking forward to outdoor and helping my team," Townsend said. "It's safe to say Townsend is hungry for the future, as she finishes her career at Baylor."

The match was closed with the fourth, clinching point for the Lady Bears in the seventh, sending the last game of the double header into extra innings.

North Texas struck first in the bottom of the third thanks to a Malady Center grand slam off Baylor's pitcher, freshman Liz Paul, making the score 1-0.

"We are a stronger outdoor team than we are indoors, so great. They are always cheering me on and supporting us while we are on the court. We are playing very well and winning matches to win the team forward to their ultimate goal of an NCAA title.

Drew's press conference ends session

Coach looks to future after tough 2010-11 year

By Chris Derryett

After a whirlwind and an undeniably disappointing season, head coach Scott Drew held his final press conference for the 2010-11 season Wednesday night.

“We’ve had so much success and everything just changed so quickly,” Drew said. “And this year, you just kind of left with that, knowing that something that will help next season.”

Drew and the Bears played their last game as the NIT selection committee chose to not give the Bears a bid to the tournament. Filling that hole was a three-season streak.

“Todo from talking to committee members beforehand, if the announcement didn’t come, our goal was still to give the fans something,” Drew said. “It wasn’t the doing factor, but it was just a way for them to feel.”

The Bears’ chances of getting into the NIT were the three straight seasons of losing in the conference regular season tournament. That streak in turn saw the Bears lose the most seasons in conference history.

“I imagine Drew mapStateToProps of regard on the NCAA decision committee,” head coach Scott Drew said. “It was because of losses that Jones received out of conference from his high school, but Drew was paid for Jones’ travel to San Diego, and again was forwarded off a professional game.
