Biographical Note:

Olga Emelia Fallen was born October 10, 1931 in Brunswick, Georgia, to Edward James and Olga Westermark Fallen. She graduated from the Glynn Academy in Brunswick where she received the honor of "Greatest Female Athlete" in the history of the school. At Georgia State College for Women she received her BA followed by an MS from the University of Tennessee.

Miss Fallen came to teach at Baylor University in September of 1956 with dance and swimming as her first areas of instruction. However, during her career she taught and coached women's sports ranging from bowling to tennis and was the women's head basketball and softball coach from 1974-1979. In addition to these duties she was an assistant professor of physical education and coordinator of women's athletics for Baylor University. Additionally, Miss Fallen was responsible for developing the women's athletic program from its beginnings in the physical education department to its inclusion in the athletics department in 1972. In doing so, she helped lay the foundations of today's women's athletics program at Baylor University.

By being in the newly created position of athletics coordinator, a position she held from 1972-1979, Fallen was able to promote her passion for women's sports while at Baylor University. As was the case with many institutions, women's athletics at Baylor University historically had less coaching staff, financial resources, facilities, and scholarship opportunities than did the men's sports program. Title IX, a section of the Education Amendment of 1972, helped to alleviate some of this inequality. Its intent is to give women's athletic programs an equal share of the resources needed to function on an equal level as the men's.

Fallen had a history of success in winning games and in recruiting some top players to the Baylor women's sports program. For example, in 1973, the first scholarship was given to a female athlete at Baylor University; this player was Suzie Snider Eppers who came from nearby Robinson High School. She finished her four years at Baylor accumulating 3,861 points and was named to Kodak's All-American team. In doing so, Eppers became the university's first basketball All-American since 1948. From 1972-1978, Fallen's win loss record for the women's basketball team was an impressive 140-

47. Additionally, the team made several trips to the AIAW (Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) basketball nationals during this period.

In April of 1979, athletic director Jack Patterson did not renew Olga Fallen's contract as women's athletic coordinator or as coach of the women's basketball and softball teams. Prior to this dismissal, an April 4, 1979 article in the Baylor Lariat featured an article mounting criticisms against Fallen's management of the Baylor women's sports program.

After her time as athletics coordinator and coach came to an end in 1979 Fallen continued to teach at Baylor University as a tenured faculty member in the physical education department. In 1997 Miss Fallen received her 40-year service pin from Baylor University and decided to retire that same year. The Baylor Athletic Hall of Fame admitted her in 1999. Olga Fallen died on May 8, 2009.

Scope and Content:

This collection includes documents accumulated by Olga Fallen during her time in the Baylor University women's athletic department and as a student in college. A large part of the collection relates to women's basketball with much of the material dating between 1972 and 1978; for example, there is a large amount of basketball statistics (11 document boxes). However, the collection includes items relating to other sports as well such as softball, swimming, track and field, and volleyball.

Various items relating to intramural and extramural activities, Baylor Olympics, and other women's teams such as the Baylor Ripplettes synchronized swimming team are in the collection. Additionally, Olga Fallen saved material relating to educational amendment Title IX and included are student essays, news articles, and documents from its early stages. Further, Fallen saved many news articles relating to equal rights for women in sports and many other clippings regarding women athletics.

Other items in the collection include: work-related correspondence and financial documents, handbooks, catalogues, event programs, directories, sport's photographs, women's athletics surveys, magazines, team rosters, playbooks, recruiting information, and trophies.

Organization and Arrangement:

Some of the original order of the Olga Fallen Collection was lost during transfer from the athletics department and storage. In the spring of 2011, members of the Baylor Museum Studies' MST 5324-Archival Collections & Museums class preliminarily processed the collection for a semester project. A year later the entire collection was processed to current Texas Collection archival standards. During storage the collection was exposed to a minor mold outbreak and many of the affected items were recopied to preserve their information. The order in which the collection is arranged and processed is in a manner to facilitate research done by topic or date.

Arrangement in the Olga Fallen Collection is in 4 series: I. Personal, II. Sports/Coaching, III. Organizational Material, IV. Subject Clippings, and V. Oversized.

Restrictions:

The collection is open for research.

Notes:

In Series I. Personal: Fallen's College Years, the items listed in brackets are the titles of sets of documents removed from 3-ring binder type notebooks.

In Series II. Sports/Coaching: In some cases, the folders labeled "basketball statistics" contain other items from games such as tournament programs or newsletters.

In Series III. Organizational Material: The names of the organizations are typed out completely within this document. On the actual folders within this collection acronyms are used instead.
