Monday Healthy Tip from Monday Campaigns

Do it for your health. Eating large amounts of red and processed meat (like bacon, deli meats, and hot dogs) has been linked to an increase in colon, rectal, and prostate cancer. Excessive meat consumption can also lead to other preventable diseases, such as obesity, diabetes, heart disease, and stroke. This week, start off with a meatless Monday. See if you can swap red and processed meats for leaner sources of protein like beans, lentils or tofu. For additional information on Meatless Monday, visit http://meatlessmonday.com/?utm_source=Healthy+Monday+Tips&utm_campaign=341a858847-10_23_2014&utm_medium=email&utm_term=0_b96fa14bc8-341a858847-67421335.
