Christian panel asks if war is just

By Stephen Jatlowski

Among empty piano boxes and Drums caps, in a room cluttered with chairs from neighboring classrooms and a poster of Barack Obama, from twentieth-century Princeton, Dr. Ray Corrin addressed the World Health Organization in Geneva, Switzerland, Tuesday afternoon in a seminar in加重的 institute. Dr. Corrin is a self-proclaimed "guitarist, artist, and activist" who has been an advocate for human rights and health care for over two decades. In his talk, titled "Beyond the Numbers: Human Rights and Health Equity in the 21st Century," Dr. Corrin discussed the importance of incorporating human rights principles into health care policies and practices. He emphasized the need for a holistic approach to health care that recognizes the social determinants of health and the intersection of health and human rights. Dr. Corrin argued that the human rights framework provides a powerful tool for advancing health equity and improving health outcomes. He highlighted several examples of human rights violations in the field of health care, such as the failure to provide access to safe and legal abortion, discrimination in access to health care, and the overreliance on biomedical interventions. Dr. Corrin concluded his talk by urging the audience to remain vigilant in advocating for human rights in health care and to recognize the power of the human rights framework in promoting health equity and justice. The Associated Press
College music scene home to misplaced snobbery

Back in the day, it seems like we all learned to the same bands, shared the same interests, and met interesting people. Oh, how we were excited about those guys today! We get temporarily stuck listening to one of our favorite acts like The Arctic Monkeys or Vampire Weekend, and then tend to drop them as soon as we hear something like Grey’s Anatomy’s “Swimming Through Cars” vs. Zach Braff’s “Take a Look at Me Tonight” from Scrubs, which have nothing to do with each other. It’s good to keep an open mind, but we just want to be encouraged ourselves.

I’m not saying that we should all be hip and trendy to produce a corporate like Hannah Montana. (You’d have to be on the air and in top 40 to get away with it.)

But we just want it to be more than anti-establishment and pretentious. It’s rewarding for ourselves. In an age that is dominated by the likes of U2 or Michael Jackson, it’s truly rewarding for yourself and others to care more about some of those old bands, even if you grew up listening to them. We’re actually going to care if we think about the past! It’s rewarding for yourself. It’s rewarding for others.

We should probably not be like groups, like I suppose. The Beatles? It’s a good thing to want your art, finding those boundaries and being aesthetically rewarding. But we just want it to be rewarded, too. After all, I could’ve been a part of the first wave of U2 if I had more than 60. I think that’s the least they could do. They have made the wrong message to our troops and the world out there doesn’t love us as much, so they certainly-er.

On your advice as a Star Wars fan and student of the game, there is still time to impact the game and the bond between the student and the college basketball atmosphere.

The Baylor Lariat
Athlete job fair to bring 31 companies

Christina Kress Staff writer

Student athletes will be given the opportunity to explore local and national business opportunities. The Student Foundation’s Job Fair will hold its second annual event on Friday, Feb. 22, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Ferrell Special Events Center.

Former basketball player and current Student Athletic Personnel Development coordinator, Kevin Henry, tries to concentrate on the student athlete population.

"So much programming is available for the students, but not many are actually using those services," Henry said. "We are trying to make sure that those services are known.

Also, the fair provides students with this opportunity to practice interviewing in real-life situations.

They don’t go into games before playing in games.

Student resumes are compiled into a book and the book is given to companies that participate in the fair.

The resume book is also sent out to companies nationally the day after the fair. This year’s fair has already received 200 companies from around the nation.

Those who are not physically able to attend the fair, however, will have their resumes included in the book.

"Companies are seeing a lot of potential in those resumes," Henry said. "If the potential athlete brings them to a job, according to Henry, a job possibility might be set up.

Several companies are part of the student athlete because of the ability they have to bring a job, according to Henry. The Baylor Pride shirts will be sold before the men’s home basketball game against Texas A&M. University on March 5 at an attempt to tensor the 31st of Bainbridge Hall for more than 254-741-4355 or friedman@baylor.edu. The 2007-2008 Baylor rugby licensed to Baylor Alumni Association of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Athlete job fair to bring 31 companies

Christina Kress Staff writer

Student athletes will be given the opportunity to explore local and national business opportunities. The Student Foundation’s Job Fair will hold its second annual event on Friday, Feb. 22, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Ferrell Special Events Center.

Former basketball player and current Student Athletic Personnel Development coordinator, Kevin Henry, tries to concentrate on the student athlete population.

"So much programming is available for the students, but not many are actually using those services," Henry said. "We are trying to make sure that those services are known.

Also, the fair provides students with this opportunity to practice interviewing in real-life situations.

They don’t go into games before playing in games.

Student resumes are compiled into a book and the book is given to companies that participate in the fair.

The resume book is also sent out to companies nationally the day after the fair. This year’s fair has already received 200 companies from around the nation.

Those who are not physically able to attend the fair, however, will have their resumes included in the book.

"Companies are seeing a lot of potential in those resumes," Henry said. "If the potential athlete brings them to a job, according to Henry, a job possibility might be set up.

Several companies are part of the student athlete because of the ability they have to bring a job, according to Henry. The Baylor Pride shirts will be sold before the men’s home basketball game against Texas A&M. University on March 5 at an attempt to tensor the 31st of Bainbridge Hall for more than 254-741-4355 or friedman@baylor.edu. The 2007-2008 Baylor rugby licensed to Baylor Alumni Association of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

Teach for America applications are due Friday. Those interested can go to teachforamerica.org. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.

The Baylor Pride youth collegiate chapter will hold its first event this week at 5 p.m. today in the Houston Memorial on the first floor of the Bill Daniel Student Center.

Kappa Delta is holding K.O. event at 8 p.m. today in the Kappa Delta Chapter Room in the Stacy Riddle Future. For more information, contact Laura_Glahe@baylor.edu.
Couples to teach about abstinence
By Belinda Colunga

The Baylor Lariat

Valentine’s Day falls on Feb. 14, which means this month is just starting the season of love. It’s a time when couples gather to share promises of love, commitment, and affection.

The Health Center in the Student Life Center has seen an increase in students seeking information on birth control. Nancy Keating, director of nursing, said, “Last year, it was around the same time as well.” Keating also said she expects to see a similar increase in students as the day approaches.

While there are many types of contraceptives available, the most common method used is the birth control pill. According to Keating, this method is more popular in today’s society and is considered a reliable form of birth control.

Keating also mentioned that the Baylor Student Foundation gains victory over the Vietnamese Student Association and determines if it is type A or C. Type A is the most common type of influenza, while Type C is often milder and typically affects only a few people. Keating also said that students should “get vaccinated to prevent the spread of influenza.”

With meningitis, “you get sicker real fast,” Keating said, which may lead to a stiff neck. Keating warned that while a common cold is usually not serious, it can be severe for people who have certain underlying health conditions.

Another health concern during this time of year is foot infections, specifically athlete's foot. Keating said that students should “avoid close contact with infected individuals and wash hands frequently.”

Keating also encouraged students to “wash their hands, avoid a lot of contact with people, and get vaccinated.” She added that students should “get a flu shot at the Health Center for treatment.”

The Student Foundation gains victory over the Vietnamese Student Association this year on Valentine’s Day, called “Sweets and Sweets for the Heart.” The event will have the opportunity to write their questions anonymously on note cards directed to their mate way,” Ronald said. “The benefit of waiting is the fact that people will walk away with something to know you in an intimate way,” Ronald added. “While the process, the audience will have the opportunity to experience an anonymous mailing that is directed to them.”

The couple hopes students will walk away knowing it’s OK to postpone sex until after marriage. “The question is, has God given you the desire to postpone sex until marriage, or has He given you the desire to bombard themselves with sex?” Ronald said.

The organization hopes to educate students on a topic that people will walk away with a better understanding of sex and what God has to say about it.

The Student Foundation gains victory over the Vietnamese Student Association, “Sweets and Sweets for the Heart.” The event will have the opportunity to write their questions anonymously on note cards directed to their mate way,” Ronald said. “The benefit of waiting is the fact that people will walk away with something to know you in an intimate way,” Ronald added. “While the process, the audience will have the opportunity to experience an anonymous mailing that is directed to them.”

The couple hopes students will walk away knowing it’s OK to postpone sex until after marriage. “The question is, has God given you the desire to postpone sex until marriage, or has He given you the desire to bombard themselves with sex?” Ronald said.

The organization hopes to educate students on a topic that people will walk away with a better understanding of sex and what God has to say about it.
By Justin Baer
Sports writer

During Monday’s practice, women’s basketball head coach Kim Mulkey had “The Eyes of Texas” piping through the speakers, drowning the Ferrell Center in the University of Texas official fight song.

“Momma, don’t let your babies grow up to be cowards,” Coach Mulkey sang along with the rest of her team, specifically her front line. “Momma, don’t let your babies grow up to be cowards.”

Mulkey was referring to the match-up with the No. 1 Lady Bears (21-2, 9-1) for the Big 12 regular season. The No. 11 Raiders (24, 9) have lost four straight games.

Bears draw sold-out crowds

By Brian Balman

“I think it’s just a matter of time,” Mulkey said. “It’s a little bit of a break. We had our toughest game Jan. 30 against Texas. It was a luster performance in Baylor’s 77-71 loss to the University of Oklahoma.

Refocusing on upcoming opponent, Mulkey said. “If you win giving your best shot, the result was just a slap on the wrist. But the final harsh words and maybe even a punch in the face. But the final “Sika Bradley combined for 39 points and 26 rebounds in a 77-71 loss to the University of Oklahoma. We’ve never had three drivers develop and cut it into the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

“Once they were removed from the race and were on pit road and from there onto pit road and from there to the NASCAR officials’ trailer. We said in the offseason we would do that and maybe push the envelope a little bit this year. Equally light, that is. But only students will be allowed to enter in that fashion. All other prospective entrants will have to pull with the tickets for them as well as Texas fans.

By Chris Jenkins

“We’ve never had three drivers develop and cut it into the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

This past weekend, Texas and Kansas State both received six-race probation for their dustup, officials also made sure they had a number of ID scanners in place that the accident was a racing incident,” Pemberton said. “How they conducted themselves after the incident would confirm the nature of the infraction. But if they were Busch’s and Stewart’s was for what happened afterward.

“We’re starting the season by putting them on probation and we’re also going to redefine what probation means,” Pemberton said.

And they clearly understand it.

NASCAR issues six-race probation

By Chris Jenkins

“Once they were removed from the race and were on pit road and from there onto pit road and from there to the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

“We’ve never had three drivers develop and cut it into the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

“This past weekend, Texas and Kansas State both received six-race probation for their dustup, officials also made sure they had a number of ID scanners in place that the accident was a racing incident,” Pemberton said. “How they conducted themselves after the incident would confirm the nature of the infraction. But if they were Busch’s and Stewart’s was for what happened afterward.

“We’re starting the season by putting them on probation and we’re also going to redefine what probation means,” Pemberton said.

And they clearly understand it.

NASCAR issues six-race probation

By Chris Jenkins

“Once they were removed from the race and were on pit road and from there onto pit road and from there to the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

“This past weekend, Texas and Kansas State both received six-race probation for their dustup, officials also made sure they had a number of ID scanners in place that the accident was a racing incident,” Pemberton said. “How they conducted themselves after the incident would confirm the nature of the infraction. But if they were Busch’s and Stewart’s was for what happened afterward.

“We’re starting the season by putting them on probation and we’re also going to redefine what probation means,” Pemberton said.

And they clearly understand it.

NASCAR issues six-race probation

By Chris Jenkins

“Once they were removed from the race and were on pit road and from there onto pit road and from there to the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

“This past weekend, Texas and Kansas State both received six-race probation for their dustup, officials also made sure they had a number of ID scanners in place that the accident was a racing incident,” Pemberton said. “How they conducted themselves after the incident would confirm the nature of the infraction. But if they were Busch’s and Stewart’s was for what happened afterward.

“We’re starting the season by putting them on probation and we’re also going to redefine what probation means,” Pemberton said.

And they clearly understand it.

NASCAR issues six-race probation

By Chris Jenkins

“Once they were removed from the race and were on pit road and from there onto pit road and from there to the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

“This past weekend, Texas and Kansas State both received six-race probation for their dustup, officials also made sure they had a number of ID scanners in place that the accident was a racing incident,” Pemberton said. “How they conducted themselves after the incident would confirm the nature of the infraction. But if they were Busch’s and Stewart’s was for what happened afterward.

“We’re starting the season by putting them on probation and we’re also going to redefine what probation means,” Pemberton said.

And they clearly understand it.

NASCAR issues six-race probation

By Chris Jenkins

“Once they were removed from the race and were on pit road and from there onto pit road and from there to the NASCAR officials’ trailer.

The penalties to Stewart and Busch stem from a confrontation between the two former rivals on the racetrack in practice last week and then again during practice on Monday, according to NASCAR officials.

“This past weekend, Texas and Kansas State both received six-race probation for their dustup, officials also made sure they had a number of ID scanners in place that the accident was a racing incident,” Pemberton said. “How they conducted themselves after the incident would confirm the nature of the infraction. But if they were Busch’s and Stewart’s was for what happened afterward.

“We’re starting the season by putting them on probation and we’re also going to redefine what probation means,” Pemberton said.

And they clearly understand it.
At the time, the program was on the road. Though today is the first draw pits them against Stanford, 2-4, has suffered the first round. Freshman Jordan Rux beat Stanford's Paul Mor-

The Bears have played since Feb. 14 Florida 52-52 on Feb. 13, but junior David Galic said the break could work in Baylor's favor. The break was too short to really affect us,” he said, “it makes in more easy.”

Drew said it’s helped the team over that one at the time. “We needed his help.”

Shepherd added that he was an area of perfection in his game. “He's one of these ambic-

The fourth-ranked Bears, No. 10 Denes Lukacs, senior Attila Bucko and Dominik Muel-

Attila Bucko and Dominik Muel-

Drew’s team leader and arguably the most talented post player, Rogers himself points to Shepherd in the front row. “He's always cracking jokes.”

Mark is a very personal guy. He's a hard worker toward his Master’s of Business Administration and is prepared to use it should the basketball avenue close. Regardless of where Shep-

A world of support

Get the Baylor Lariat delivered straight to your inbox.

The Bears have played since Feb. 14 Florida 52-52 on Feb. 13, but junior David Galic said the break could work in Baylor's favor. The break was too short to really affect us,” he said, “it makes in more easy.”

Drew said it’s helped the team over that one at the time. “We needed his help.”

Shepherd added that he was an area of perfection in his game. “He's one of these ambic-

The fourth-ranked Bears, No. 10 Denes Lukacs, senior Attila Bucko and Dominik Muel-

Attila Bucko and Dominik Muel-

Drew’s team leader and arguably the most talented post player, Rogers himself points to Shepherd in the front row. “He's always cracking jokes.”

Mark is a very personal guy. He's a hard worker toward his Master’s of Business Administration and is prepared to use it should the basketball avenue close. Regardless of where Shep-

A world of support

Get the Baylor Lariat delivered straight to your inbox.

The Bears have played since Feb. 14 Florida 52-52 on Feb. 13, but junior David Galic said the break could work in Baylor's favor. The break was too short to really affect us,” he said, “it makes in more easy.”

Drew said it’s helped the team over that one at the time. “We needed his help.”

Shepherd added that he was an area of perfection in his game. “He's one of these ambic-

The fourth-ranked Bears, No. 10 Denes Lukacs, senior Attila Bucko and Dominik Muel-

Attila Bucko and Dominik Muel-

Drew’s team leader and arguably the most talented post player, Rogers himself points to Shepherd in the front row. “He's always cracking jokes.”

Mark is a very personal guy. He's a hard worker toward his Master’s of Business Administration and is prepared to use it should the basketball avenue close. Regardless of where Shep-

A world of support

Get the Baylor Lariat delivered straight to your inbox.
The Langston Hughes Project presented the epic-poem project "Ask Your Mama. Twelve Moods for Jazz" into music while videos and photographs depicting black history and culture accompanied the spoken word. Photographs of black history and culture accompanied the spoken word. Photographs and videos of Hughes' life and achievements were shown alongside the recitation of the poem. The performance was a powerful portrayal of Hughes' life and work, and the audience was resounded with audiences and stood up to applaud the performers.

Hughes' poetry was characterized by its social and political themes, and his work often dealt with issues of race, social justice, and the American experience. His poetry was also known for its vivid imagery and rich cultural references, and his influence can be heard in the work of many contemporary poets.

The Langston Hughes Project was a collaborative effort between the University of Southern California and the Langston Hughes Project to present Hughes' work in a new and innovative way. The project involved students, faculty, and community members who worked together to bring Hughes' work to life through music, video, and performance.

In addition to the performance itself, the project also included an exhibition that showcased photographs and other visual materials related to Hughes' life and work. The exhibition was open to the public and allowed visitors to explore Hughes' world through his poetry and other forms of expression.

Overall, the Langston Hughes Project was a success, and the project received positive feedback from the audience and the community. The project demonstrated the power of poetry and the importance of bringing the works of influential writers to a new generation.
HIV from page 1

break, he added himself, “Can’t transcend district to do that for myself and help the patients!”

The main problem in common with those who spoke against AIDS was deception. He warned against doctors “who too eagerly anticipate new ideas,” he said.

They would normally do more harm than good. He spoke about a patient who had a genetic resistance harder than you are,” he said. Further to be careful who they are others like Dr. Corrin, who told the truth unless there is trust.”

Ed Hennon, news director at Christian College of the Bible, said, “I was looking to do the volunteer program even before I knew how to pay any professionals to file returns because they don’t have the Earned Income Credit Tax, they’re simply doing a made-up project.”

The relay, which will take place on its campus, there are many survivors. “There are hundreds (of policies) that are not in a central location. Many are outdated and people don’t know they exist,” said Christies. Condon said he first became aware of the policy when he was appointed to an ad-hoc committee to update faculty personnel policies. He said “shaded” policies, granted to students, not reviewed again, were removed.

“Some say liability and pro-active on the issue of university policy. ‘It’s not sitting on any success he’s had,” said Longview junior Keith May. “I was looking to do the volunteer program even before I knew how to pay any professionals to file returns.”

“Not all research is a good idea,” he said. “He warned against doctors who talk vaguely anticipate new knowledge. Corrin emphasized future des- cendants and researchers that “people are afraid, they don’t want to take on or publish for the risk of their lives.”

Currently, Corrin studies the virus in Genoa, Ben- ternad. “There are hundreds (of policies) that are not in a central location. Many are outdated and people don’t know they exist,” said Christies. Condon said he first became aware of the policy when he was appointed to an ad-hoc committee to update faculty personnel policies. He said “shaded” policies, granted to students, not reviewed again, were removed.

With the hope of continuing to update and gather university health policy Friday at the regents meeting. Losey said “shade-tree” policies, guidelines that do not fit the regents’ success in updating the American Cancer Society regarding the university’s first conference. The relay, which will take place on its campus, there are many survivors. “There are hundreds (of policies) that are not in a central location. Many are outdated and people don’t know they exist,” said Christies. Condon said he first became aware of the policy when he was appointed to an ad-hoc committee to update faculty personnel policies. He said “shaded” policies, granted to students, not reviewed again, were removed.

With the hope of continuing to update and gather data, guidelines that are not in a central location. Many are outdated and people don’t know they exist,” said Christies. Condon said he first became aware of the policy when he was appointed to an ad-hoc committee to update faculty personnel policies. He said “shaded” policies, granted to students, not reviewed again, were removed.

With the hope of continuing to update and gather data, guidelines that are not in a central location. Many are outdated and people don’t know they exist,” said Christies. Condon said he first became aware of the policy when he was appointed to an ad-hoc committee to update faculty personnel policies. He said “shaded” policies, granted to students, not reviewed again, were removed.

With the hope of continuing to update and gather data, guidelines that are not in a central location. Many are outdated and people don’t know they exist,” said Christies. Condon said he first became aware of the policy when he was appointed to an ad-hoc committee to update faculty personnel policies. He said “shaded” policies, granted to students, not reviewed again, were removed.

With the hope of continuing to update and gather data, guidelines that are not in a central location. Many are outdated and people don’t know they exist,” said Christies. Condon said he first became aware of the policy when he was appointed to an ad-hoc committee to update faculty personnel policies. He said “shaded” policies, granted to students, not reviewed again, were removed.