HIS 1300: The U.S. in Global Perspective
(part of new A&S core curriculum)
Spring 2020
List of Course Descriptions

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Producers, Consumers, Creators – Smith
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism;
revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the way Americans think of themselves in the global context.

HIS 1300-01 40934  T209  MWF 9:05-9:55 a.m.
HIS 1300-04 40937  T209  MWF 11:15-12:05

The U.S. in Global Perspective: History of Nature and the Hunt – Hill
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly
American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism;
revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the social, economic, and environmental history of the U.S. with a focus on hunting cultures.

HIS 1300-10 40942  T211  MWF 9:05-9:55 a.m.
HIS 1300-12 40944  T211  MWF 10:10-11:00 a.m.
HIS 1300-05 40938  T211  MWF 11:15-12:05 p.m.

The U.S. in Global Perspective: War, Peace, & Gender w/ Russia, Britain, & Great Powers – Jug
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly
American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism;
revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to international conflicts, conflict settlement, and gender roles in U.S. relations with Russia, Britain, and other Great Powers from the 19th century to the mid-20th century.

HIS 1300-03 40936  TB05  MWF 10:10-11:00 a.m.

The U.S. in Global Perspective: A Nation of Immigrants - Poor
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly
American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism;
revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to immigration and national identity.

HIS 1300-06 40939  T211  MW 2:30-3:45 p.m.
HIS 1300-07 40946  T211  TR 8:00-9:15 a.m.
HIS 1300-09 40941  T211  TR 9:30-10:45 a.m.

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Coming to America – Watkins
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly
American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism;
revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to immigration and national identity.

HIS 1300-08 40940  T202  TR 8:00-9:15 a.m.

The U.S. in Global Perspective: American Food, from Maíz to Momofuku – Coffman
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly
American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism;
revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the way what we eat reflects U.S. interactions with the rest of the world.

HIS 1300-11 40943  T211  TR 11-12:15
HIS 1300-14 40933  T211  TR 2:00-3:15 p.m.
The U.S. in Global Perspective: The Transatlantic Slave Trade – Elder
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the impact of the transatlantic slave trade on early America.

HIS 1300-13  40945  TB05  TR 12:30-1:45 p.m.

The U.S. in Global Perspective: The “Last Acceptable Prejudice” – Gutacker
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to the history of anti-Catholicism in the United States.

HIS 1300-15  40932  T211  TR 3:30-4:45 p.m.

The U.S. in Global Perspective: Pax Americana – Wingerd
Introduction to the history of the United States within a global context from 1776 to the present. Examines the ways a distinctly American society developed within larger patterns of world history. Themes explored may include nationalism; imperialism; revolution; concepts of democracy, freedom, and equality; migration and immigration; industrialization and economic systems; and global conflict, with special attention to international relations.

HIS 1300-02  40935  T210  TR 3:30-4:45 p.m.