FINDING CAREER SUCCESS IN YOUR NEW COMMUNITY

It can be both exciting and challenging when your spouse has accepted a job in a new city, especially if it means leaving your own position and finding a job in your new community. Sometimes the biggest challenge is simply knowing where to begin.

Baylor’s Dual Career Assistance Program was created for people just like you. We want your spouse to have a successful career here at Baylor and we want to help set you up for success in your own job search.

This program offers the spouse of a newly-hired full-time faculty or staff member personalized job search assistance. While we cannot guarantee a job, we can provide you tools and resources as you conduct your job search, both at Baylor and in the surrounding Waco community.

HOW DOES THE PROGRAM WORK?

- The spouse of a new, permanent full-time faculty or staff member who is or will become unemployed due to relocation to Waco is eligible for this program. The participating spouse must be eligible to work in the United States.
- The hiring manager, department head, Vice President, Department Chair, Dean, or Provost Office contacts the Dual Career Assistance program manager to make a referral.
- An initial consultation is conducted with the candidate or new hire’s spouse to discuss his or her employment interests, skills and needs. This meeting is typically held in person but can also be done over the phone.
- The services offered will be tailored to fit individual needs.
- Assistance is provided to support the individual’s own job search efforts at Baylor and in the community. There is no guarantee of employment.
