What is FedSoc?

The Federalist Society for Law and Public Policy Studies is a group of conservatives and libertarians interested in the current state of the legal order. It is founded on the principles that the state exists to preserve freedom, that the separation of governmental powers is central to our Constitution, and that it is emphatically the province and duty of the judiciary to say what the law is, not what it should be. The Society seeks both to promote an awareness of these principles and to further their application through its activities. We host debates, lectures, and panel discussions featuring federal judges, public interest litigators, practitioners, government officials, and other legal scholars from Baylor and top universities across the country.

Perks of Membership

- Network with judges, lawyers, and academics from across the country, including invitations to conferences and speaking events
- Be involved in facilitating intelligent discussion of pressing legal and public policy topics
- FREE FOOD at every event!

You can also email questions to FedSoc President at tiffany_dunkin1@baylor.edu.
