All:

First things first, congrats to everyone on making it through the first day of an online competition. You are truly pioneers, and you should be proud of yourselves for being willing to try something new.

Now, on to the stuff you care about...

There are no changes to the problem tomorrow, and the pretrial order that applied today will also apply for tomorrow's rounds.

The pairings for Saturday, May 30th, are attached. The pairings include the names and phone numbers for your witnesses (who you can call 30 minutes before the round to begin woodshedding), your opponent (so you can call them 10 minutes prior to woodshedding for any pretrial conference you would like to have), and for your presiding judge (who you can call if there are any technical issues during the round).

Additionally, here are the links for the various courtrooms for tomorrow, along with the passwords for each room.
