Parent Guide

Office of Access & Learning Accommodation

Paul L. Foster Success Center
College life poses different challenges for students with disabilities. When students enroll in college, they are considered responsible adults by faculty and staff. The expectations are that they will assume responsibilities for meeting their class requirements. This added responsibility is coupled with a change in environment. Whereas the high school was a very structured environment with a set schedule, college schedules can vary dramatically. For the first time students may have considerable time between classes and frequently do not use this time wisely. Students must enforce their own attendance policies and prepare to realize personal consequences if they choose not to attend class. Once students turn 18 years old, they are legally an adult, responsible for their own actions and decisions.

We hope this handbook will help you better understand some of those distinctions and provide tips on how best to support your son or daughter in college.
Differences between High School & College

There are many differences between how disability services are provided at the K-12 level and at the post-secondary level. While it is not practical to list them all, there are some key points to know. The changes reflect the fact that the college student is no longer a minor and is now responsible for making decisions as to his or her education.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>HIGH SCHOOL</th>
<th>COLLEGE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Parents are responsible for making sure they school is accommodating their student appropriately.</td>
<td>The parent is no longer responsible for making sure their student is accommodated. This is now the student’s responsibility both to initiate and to make the appropriate office aware if they are not being accommodated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schools will make academic adjustments based on IEP or 504 Plans.</td>
<td>Documentation of the disability is your student’s responsibility. The student is required to provide and pay for documentation of their disability. IEP and 504 Plans will not be accepted as the sole means of documentation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>High School can change academic requirements for your student.</td>
<td>Colleges are not required to reduce or waive essential course requirements.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

HIGH SCHOOL ACADEMIC ADJUSTMENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>COLLEGE ACCOMMODATIONS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>High school allows shortened assignments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>High school allows the use of notes, formulas or word banks on exams.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>High school explains questions using different words.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>High school can request a copy of the teacher’s notes.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
• At the college level, students must request services. Students must self-identify to the OALA office as having a disability and present appropriate documentation. Students must contact the office at the beginning of every semester that they wish to receive accommodations. The student will log into Accommodate to request letters of accommodation for the current semester. Even if OALA and an instructor know that a student has a disability and is eligible for an accommodation, if the student does not request and provide letters to their faculty, then they will not receive any accommodations.

• College students must notify their faculty directly as to their accommodation needs. OALA will not, as a general rule, contact instructors for students. OALA can provide accommodations, but it is the student’s responsibility to request the accommodation letter to his or her instructors and to discuss the stated accommodations.

• Colleges are not obligated to provide the exact same accommodations as were given at any point from K-12. Even if an accommodation is listed on a 504 Plan or other documents, the OALA office may determine that is not reasonable at the college level.
How parents can help:

The following are some important ways parents can help:

- Encourage your son or daughter to take advantage of available services. While services cannot be forced upon a student, it is in the student's best interest to know what services he or she is eligible for.

- Encourage your son or daughter to meet with OALA staff at the start of each semester. Even if a student does not want services or accommodations, it is helpful for the student to discuss this with a staff member. It also helps us be aware of how each student is doing and makes it easier to offer assistance should the student change their mind during the course of a semester.

- Encourage your son or daughter to meet with OALA staff at least once more during the semester to check in and let us know if they need any additional services or assistance. Some good times are a few weeks before mid-term exams and evaluations, and a few weeks before finals and end-of-the-semester evaluations. Students are, of course, welcome anytime.

- Encourage your son or daughter to familiarize themselves with the contents of the OALA webpage (www.baylor.edu/oala) or Facebook to check for any announcements or upcoming deadlines. A link to the New Student Handbook is available for students to review on the OALA website as well.

- Encourage your son or daughter to speak up for him or herself and to be on his or her own best advocate.

- Encourage your son or daughter to meet regularly with his or her instructors to get feedback as to their progress in class, and to check in with their academic advisor as well.
Communication

While students may sign a release of information with OALA and a FERPA form, the OALA staff still communicates primarily with the student. In the past, parents may have communicated on the student’s behalf in high school. College is a different environment in which each student needs to grow and develop their self-advocacy skills. We recommend that you discuss college life with your student if you are interested in knowing about his/her experiences. If you contact OALA and would like to discuss concerns about your child, you are welcome to do so, but arrangements must be made with OALA staff for the student to be present in order to discuss any specific information regarding the student. The OALA staff will be happy to speak with parents and answer any basic questions but will not share specific information about their student unless the student is present or has specifically requested the information be shared.
Office of Access and Learning Accommodation (OALA)
One Bear Place # 97204
Waco, Texas 76798-7204
Phone: (254) 710-3605
Fax: (254) 710-3608
OALA@Baylor.edu

Hours of Operation:
8:00 AM – 5:00 PM Monday – Friday

Mission Statement:
The mission of the Office of Access and Learning Accommodation is to ensure equal access and opportunities to all students with disabilities. We strive to provide a supportive and enriching environment in which students can achieve success.

Services:
- Time management skills
- Interpreting services for students with hearing impairments
- Note-taking services for eligible students
- Community liaison with DARS
- Study skills
- Faculty education
- Alternate format of text
- Alternate testing facility
- Readers
- Assistive technology/software
- Adaptive equipment (tables, chairs, etc.)
- Housing accommodations
- Meal plan modifications
- Foreign language considerations
- Class to class transport when eligible

Categories of Disabilities Accommodated:
- Specific Learning Disabilities
- Attention Deficit and Hyperactivity Disorder
- Physical Disabilities: hearing, vision, medical, orthopedic, etc.
- Psychological Diagnoses
- Autism Spectrum Disorder
- Temporary Disabilities