

For International Students

About the PhD in Public Health, residential MPH program, and Baylor University.

The diversity of our students and faculty is an important part of who we are as a globally-minded public health team.

Our international students are welcomed and valued members of our student body.

Check out our Baylor International Student and Scholar Services

Baylor provides guidance and support to those at Baylor who have an F-1 or J-1 Visa. Click here for more information.

<https://globalengagement.web.baylor.edu/iss>

Also note their Living in Waco page at:

<https://globalengagement.web.baylor.edu/international-student-and-scholar-services/support-resources/living-Waco>

Frequently Requested Information

- International students are eligible for our academic scholarships (tuition remission) and graduate assistantships (paid work positions) in public health. Some students receive both.
 - PhD student scholarship and assistantship offers are based on program application materials and faculty mentor interviews (see admissions info in PhD info flyer).
 - MPH-level scholarships are based on application materials for program admission.
 - MPH assistantships are based on a separate application form (see department website) and interviews (selected based on application).
- We do not waive application fees, nor do we waive the GRE. Both are required.

Required Documents

Click here for information about required documents for international applicants: <https://www.baylor.edu/graduate/index.php?id=959291>

Language Proficiency

International graduate students must demonstrate English-language proficiency through Duolingo, TOEFL, or IELTS scores; or prove they are exempt. Click here for more information and instructions:

<https://www.baylor.edu/graduate/index.php?id=959283>

