Copyrights and Trademarks

A trademark is a symbol or word used by a manufacturer or organization to identify its goods or services and distinguishes them from its competitors. A trademark conveys to consumers the desirability of the product bearing the mark and helps to promote the goods it is identified with.