Texas Astronomical Society hosts an Open House at its Turner Research Station, near Clifton, Texas. Each event is designed to describe our activities and to share our passion for astronomy. There will be a short program, a tour of the observatory and, weather permitting, visitors may experience the heavens with portable telescopes and/or live images from the 24-inch Meyer telescope. Turner Research Station, 14801 FM 182 Clifton, TX 76689. For additional information, click here.

On the third Saturday of each month the Central Texas Astronomy Society Observatory Open House takes place at White Buffalo Market. The event features a schedule of stargazing and presentations. Admission is free, and visitors are invited to bring their own telescopes. The event will conclude with a group tour of the observatory. White Buffalo Market is a trendy and upscale, family-friendly, outdoor market that is held in Waco. Vendors are hand-selected for premium handcrafted goods. Tickets are $10-$25.
