COVID-19 Pandemic Response for Baylor Theatre Patrons

Presenting theatre made by and for Baylor students is an important part of the instructional mission of the Department of Theatre Arts. Bringing that work to a wide audience of campus and community patrons is a great tradition of our program. We will continue our legacy of theatre excellence by producing a variety of innovative and exciting Baylor Theatre performances for the public during these COVID-19 days.

To protect the well-being and safety of students, faculty, and patrons, the department will heed public health guidelines and place restrictions on in-person gatherings during Fall 2020.

- Some theatre productions will be streamed using online platforms for virtual attendance by the public, the campus community, family, and alumni.
- Some theatre productions will be performed live in outdoor spaces for small in-person audiences.

Our Performance Calendar will be continually updated with show titles, days, and times. New productions will be added to the calendar as conditions permit, so check it frequently at www.baylor.edu/theatre/calendar
